PHILADELPHIA MAY DETERMINE KEYSTONE RACE

Note a Real Test of Beer Sentiment.

ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Philadelphia, Pa., May 16.—(SPEcial.)—With beer shouting for beer and light wine, Pepper and Mellon appearing for an endorsement of the Prohibition administration, and Pinchot appearing for more teeth in the prohibition law, the Pennsylvania campaign for nomination of a Republican candidate for senator is closing in a desperate struggle over the vote of Philadelphia. The primary will be held Tuesday.

This city, of which he is the political boss, is conceded to Vane. The city question is the size of his plurality. The managers of Senator Pepper canvass that if Vane can be held to a plurality of not more than 10,000 in Philadelphia, Pepper will carry the state. This calculation is based on the assumption that Pepper will carry Pittsburgh and the rest of western Pennsylvania and break even with Vane and Pinchot in the eastern half of Philadelphia.

Vane finds Pittsburgh O. K.
Vane expects to carry Philadelphia by not less than 100,000 and to beat Pepper in Pittsburgh and other popular centers and Pinchot in the coal regions. If he does all that he will win the nomination overwhelmingly. The case has just returned from Pittsburgh, where he found the situation satisfactory. He believes that the same forces which resulted in Pepper losing Pittsburgh four years ago are operating with similar effectiveness now.

With modification of the Volstead act the underlying issue of the campaign has been concentrated on getting out the dry vote. Pepper discussed a drive to register Philadelphia Prohibitionists and urged that they should not ordinarily do so. It was assumed that the Vane machine has all its voters registered and that the nonvoters belong to the "better element," depended on to put Pepper over.

The drive resulted in adding 120,000 names to the voting lists, making the city electorate total 600,000. Counting the names of voters for Pepper, his managers figure that the Vane plurality in this city can be held below 50,000.

Mellons Make Strong Fight.

With Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, Secretary of Labor Davis and Senator David Reed speaking in Pittsburgh last night in favor of Pepper, the influence of the Mellon family has been exerted to put Pepper over and retain their share in the Republican state organization. If Pepper wins on Tuesday Mellons will dominate the state organization. If they lose Boss Vane will win the battle.

The Pepper shouters are proclaiming the Mellon and Davis speeches as tantamount to an appeal by President Coolidge for the renomination of the senator. When two members of the senate ask the retention of a senator it is pretty good evidence the administration wants him retained, they argue.

The fact remains, however, that if Mr. Coolidge does prefer Pepper, he has been exceedingly careful not to indicate his preference to the voters of Pennsylvania. He did not send Mellon and Davis to speak for Pepper.
They came because they are residents of Pennsylvania and are for Pepper.

Secretary Mellon's plea.
In his speech Mr. Mellon did not carry a Coolidge endorsement of Pepper in preference to Vane. What he said, speaking of Pepper, was
"He has stood loyally by the administration in its efforts to carry out the policy of the party, and he enjoys the confidence and esteem of President Coolidge and the party leaders at Washington."

The Vane managers answered Mellon today with the assertion that Mel-lon's speech could be said for the congressman, who has stood loyally by the administration—more loyally than Pepper, they aver. They cite the votes Pepper has cast against the administration on occasion and challenge citizens of irregularity on the part of Vane.

The congressman confided to Mr.
Coolidge his intention to oppose Pepper and, while the President indicated his intention to refrain from taking sides in the primary fight, Vane came feeling that he, too, possessed
"confidence and esteem of President Coolidge."

Make It Test of Confidence.
There was presented last night,
however, the spectacle of two cabinet members making this primary a test of confidence in the president.

Polish Rule Held by Pilsudski.

BULLETIN.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
WARSAW, Poland, May 16.—The first American casualty in the Polish revolt came to light today.
W. E. Joyce of Washington, D. C., former American relief official, was wounded in the arm by a ricochet bullet as he lay on the floor of his home screening with his body his two young children. The Joyce family spent two days and nights huddled behind a barricade of trunks and furniture in their apartment opposite the Belvedere palace.

WARSAW, Poland, May 16.—Marshal Josef Pilsudski reigns supreme in Warsaw. That is the gist of the story still unfinished and still untold.

The rest is a picture of a president who skinned over the garden wall and ran away, of a military leader whose men have crowned him as a dictator they love and want, and of a city coming out of an eighty-four hour spasm of politics, diplomacy, revolt, mutiny, treachery, a pitched battle, defeat, and victory.

Warsaw is brilliant today in the flood of May sunshine carrying an unusual northern warmth. The streets and parks pulsate with life, action, and color, and, whether it be temporary or not, there is peace. The military coup d'etat is an accomplished fact, and if there is opposition within the city to the new government, not yet one day old, it is covert.

Perambulators Replace Artillery.
Not ten hours ago the city was shaking with the rattle of artillery cannonade, the detonations of air bombs bursting, and the rattle of machine gun fire. This morning nursmaids with starchy starched white headresses are pushing baby carriages under the shade trees of Ujaz-dowski boulevard, where the street fighting was most severe yesterday.

Above the car tracks, down the center of Warsaw's main thoroughfare, trolley wires snipped by bullets and shell fragments how are hanging in hastily gathered festoons so as not to impede the rush of heavy traffic, wheel, foot, and hoof, beneath. The glaziers and plasterers are at work with hammer, putty knife, and trowel, repairing the bullet gashes and broken panes.

Marks by the thousand show lead splashes against the dark gray stone walls, while splintered woodwork ar-rounds windows and doors indicates where death sought the hidden snipers.

Dismantle Street Barricades.
Workmen and soldiers from the engineering corps are busily engaged in dismantling corner barricades where cobble stones hastily were torn up and barricades erected. The men from the territorial department and telephone company are straddling poles, renewing insulators, and stringing wires.
Street traffic slows down to go around shell holes and barricades while the work of reconstruction continues.

Groaning tanks waddle up the center of the streets with their machine guns pointed to the sky from the battling turrets. The human occupants are unseen save for the glint of their eyes through the periscopes. Armored cars lumber by, escorting military trucks loaded down with young infantrymen with sweat covered faces showing red beneath their steel helmets. Some wear French "in hats" and others the larger German type of head armor.

Motorcycles with side cars and dispatch riders in new uniforms bearing fresh oil stains on their puttees fly past. There is a flood of old fashioned Russian droshkies with fat drivers in padded blue coats, sitting high on their boxes, while the bodies of the vehicles are occupied by Parisian clad Polish girls in knee length skirts and high heeled slippers. They carry brilliant red and blue parasols to shade their faces from the sun.

Sidewalks Are Crowded.
The sidewalks are thronged with many women carrying children and young girls in starched finery and painfully new shoes. The newsboys, shouting the last and most unpro-nounceable headlines in eight syllables, mix with old women flower vendors selling dew wet bunches of purple lilacs. Overhead the hum of a military airplane is heard returning from an air reconnaissance to the Belvedere. (Continued on page 3, column 1.)

THE CHANGING WORLD

In the old days it was the children who needed to be educated.

In these days it is the parents.

In the old days the youth who won scholastic honors was quite a hero.

In these days the youth who has attended and left eight different prep schools is the hero.

In the old days grandparents looked and acted old.

In these days they neither look nor act old.

W. J. BRYAN JR. TO ARGUE APPEAL OF SCOPES CASE

New York, May 16.—(AP)—The New York Herald-Tribune will say tomorrow that William Jennings Bryan Jr. will take the place of his late father as chief counsel for the state of Tennessee when the appeal of John T. Scopes from conviction of teaching the theory of evolution is argued before the Supreme court May 31.

Wm. Burkhardt Again Seriously Ill; In Sanitarium

William Burkhardt, member of the Illinois commerce commission and a brother-in-law of former Mayor William Hale Thompson, who suffered an attack of amnesia last winter and was found after a week's search in a Van Hook, N. Y., hospital, where he had given an assumed name, is again seriously ill. At the North Shore sanitarium, in Winnetka, it was said he is threatened with another severe nervous breakdown and may have to remain under treatment for a month or more.

3 Children, 5 Adults Die in Auto Crashes

Three children and four adults died yesterday in auto accidents. The seven deaths raised the 1926 auto toll to 287.
Three year old Goro Auriere, 691
Glavin place, was fatally injured yesterday when he was struck near his home by a cab driven by Charles Hendrie, 1916 Farragut street. He died as he was being taken to the Mother Cabrini hospital by Rende.

Anna Marie Mathieu, 10 years old, daughter of Charles Mathieu, 114 West 118th street, was almost instantly killed when the automobile in which she was riding was struck by a car driven by Fred Coles, 16 years old, 2326 West Monroe street, at Grand boulevard and East 49th street last night.

Girl, 4, Is Victim.
Fannie Gerrick, 4 years old, 1555
South Kedzie avenue, was struck yesterday evening and fatally injured by an automobile driven by Robert Jacobson, 1440 South Central Park avenue, on Kedzie avenue between 15th and 16th streets. She was taken to the Mount Sinai hospital by James O'Toole, 5747 South Green street, a passing motorist, and died shortly afterwards.
Jacobson is being held.

An unidentified man about 40 years old, riding a motorcycle, collided with an automobile at Jackson boulevard and Home avenue, Oak Park, and was instantly killed.

Peter Lorimer, 60 years old, 979 Spruce street, Winnetka, died at his home last night of injuries sustained Saturday night.

E. R. Pell of 840 Center street, Winnetka, with whom Lorimer was riding, was slightly injured. He was arrested and charged with driving while intoxicated.

Injuries Fatal to Woman.
Mrs. Mary McBride, 5 years old, 4326
Calumet avenue, died at the county hospital of injuries sustained on Saturday, when she was struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. Rose McCullay, 4328 Champlain avenue.

James Keefe, 27 years old, 2871
Ellis avenue, died at the Chicago hospital of injuries suffered on Thursday.
Ferne Gillard, 35 years old, 154
South 21st avenue, Maywood, was fatally injured when a motorcycle on which he was riding crashed into a fence.

LETTERS REVEAL TRAGIC LOVE IN SUICIDE OF GIRL

There's only a bundle of old letters with Florida postmarks, packed in a fragrant chest filled with silk scarfs, embroidered linens and dainty lingerie, to tell the story of the one romance in the life of pretty Laura Lane, 23, whose body was taken yesterday from the drainage canal at Springfield avenue. She disappeared from her home at 1532 West 15th street April 30.

For three years Laura had known John Mayo Chapman, personable young employer of the Southern Bell Telephone company, and while she was not engaged to him, the chest of linens was mute evidence of an "understanding" to which ardent phrases in the letters testified.

Several months ago Chapman departed for Florida to take a better job.
His letters were frequent at first, then lapses between them became noticeable. Finally they ceased altogether, and no more word was forthcoming in answer to the appeals of his sweetheart.

Laura brooded incessantly, prayed fervently, and lost weight and good spirits, her sister, Mrs. Eleanor Brinker, said yesterday.

"She was the family favorite, a wonderful, ambitious girl," Mrs. Brinker said. "I haven't a doubt that her mind was affected when she wandered away from home. Until Chapman came along, she never had a real beau."

For six years Laura has been employed in the auditing department of Joseph T. Ryerson & Son, 2555 West 16th street.

280 LAND SAFELY AS CLYDE LINER GOES AGROUND

Miami, Fla., May 16.—(AP)—Two hundred and eighty passengers from the Clyde liner steamship Seneca, were brought here today after the vessel grounded a mile off Miami harbor last night as a result of a leak which partially filled its hold with water.

The leak was discovered when the steamship was off Hollywood, seventeen miles north of here, en route to New York.

Chicago Freighter Is Burned.
Ogdensburg, N. Y., May 16.—(AP)— Reports reaching here tonight from Cape Vincent said the steamer Charles Horn was burned and sunk off Peters Point in Lake Ontario today. The crew of 17 men were picked up by a passing steamer and landed at Cape Vincent. The Charles Horn is owned by the Horn Lumber company of Chicago.

Exploded in Buenos Aires Legation Door

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
BUENOS AIRES, May 17.—A bomb was exploded early this morning at the United States embassy. The bomb, which was placed in the door of the embassy by some unknown person, slightly wounded a passerby and destroyed the embassy entrance. Many windows were broken out on the opposite side of the street. Maj. Dusen-berry, military attaché of the Italian embassy, shortly after the explosion found everything in confusion, which he did his best to allay.

Government officials rushed to the scene of the outburst and tendered their regrets to the residents of the embassy. No Jews to the bombers' identity or their motives were discovered. Ambassador Jay, who was not present at the time of the explosion, is expected to make a statement later.

Whitman to Go Before Grand Jurors Today

John I. Whitman, warden of Joliet penitentiary, has been subpoenaed to appear today before the special grand jury to tell what he knows about pardons and paroles as they were used and abused under the Small administration.

This was made known last night by Attorney General Carlstrom and State's Attorney Crowe, who are leading the special grand jury's investigation into pardons and paroles, crime and beer, as factors in Chicago's gangs.

Neither prosecutor would reveal why Warden Whitman was called, nor what he was expected to tell. It was conceded, however, that he would be asked to testify concerning the pardon mill, the existence of which was indicated by testimony concerning Maj. M.
A. Messlein and his Major Engineering corporation. Messlein has boasted that he has been instrumental in freeing 8,000 convicts.

Shin Deputy Known as Boss.

Since the spectacular escape from the penitentiary of seven convicts, who killed Deputy Warden Peter Klein in their flight, and since the exposure here of the pardon mill, there have come to prosecutors, here and in Joliet, many scandalous reports of mismanagement at the prison.

It has been stated publicly that Klein was virtual czar of the new Stateville prison, spurning the commands of Warden Whitman and taking his orders only from his political sponsors at Springfield. Klein became known as "Jenkins' man" because Chauncey Jenkins, director of the state department of public welfare and overseer of all prisons, had put Klein in his responsible place, though he had been convicted as a bootlegger.

All this was developed in the Joliet grand jury inquiry conducted by States Attorney Hjalmar Rehn, who will resume that end of the investigation this morning.

Colvin Involved in Inquiry.

Likewise the prosecutors claim it has been shown that Will Colvin, chairman of the board of pardons and paroles, was another czar, dictating the policies and even the specific acts of the parole board, freeing convicts as he desired, taking his orders also from Chauncey Jenkins.

How closely it all dovetails with the Chicago investigation was pointed out in the fact that both Klein and Colvin were heavy stockholders in Messlein's Major Engineering corporation, Colvin having received $25,000 worth of stock as a "gift" from Messlein. One of Mr. Crowe's witnesses, a man seeking parole for a relative, says he was urged to buy stock in Messlein's company before the parole went through.

And the pardon of ten convicted criminals of the flat janters union was followed by the sale of thousands of dollars in this stock to janitors.

Warden a Student of Crime.

Warden Whitman, 64 years old, has spent more than half his life in prison service and the study of criminology.
In 1880 he started as a guard in the Cook county jail. Five years later he became warden of the jail, leaving in 1907 to become superintendent of the House of Correction, serving there ten years. Gov. Lowden then appointed him as state superintendent of prisons.
Four years ago he became warden at Joliet penitentiary.

Former Sultan of Turkey Dies Suddenly in Italy

...were in good condition and had worked efficiently throughout the flight. Omdahl is to return to Teller to superintend the shipment of the dirigible.

An important lesson drawn from the flight by Amundsen was the absolute need of radio stations in all phases of exploration and aviation.

The men took Lieutenant Commander Richard Byrd's feat in beating them to the north pole goodnaturedly. They were tired and weary when they reached Nome and said the men left behind at Teller were in a similar physical condition. All had stood the trip splendidly, however.

Take Boat to Nome.

NOME, Alaska, May 16.—(AP)—Capt. Roald Amundsen, Lincoln Ellsworth, Capt. Oscar Wisting, and Lieut. Oskar Omdahl of the crew of eighteen of the dirigible Norge arrived here from Teller, seventy-five miles northwest, in the launch Pippin at 3 a. m. today.

The Pippin was dragged fourteen miles to open water over the frozen bay of Port Clarence at Teller before it could put off for the trip down the coast of the Bering sea. It was a cold and gloomy voyage, and the little launch in which they left last night to complete the voyage originally planned for the airship from Spitzbergen to Nome.

Greeted by Small Band.

A small band of natives and whites from Nome and the surrounding district greeted the transpolar flyers when they arrived at the mouth of the Snake river, seven miles west of Nome.

A feeling of resentment against Amundsen was expressed by many in Nome over the failure of the explorer to bring the Norge to Nome after sending a message to Ralph Lomen, Norwegian vice consul, to arrange to have 100 men ready to help pull the airship to the ground by ropes.

The message assured the populace that Nome would be Amundsen's landing place and the chamber of commerce went to considerable expense in placing a cable and four anchors on the Nome landing field. A triumphal arch was erected on the main street and streamers and banners lined the street, while all buildings and homes were decorated. Some persons suggested that the decorations be substituted by crepe. The public was deeply chagrined, including Amundsen's Norwegian friends.

Rewards for Noble.

ROME, May 16.—(U. N.)—Premier Mussolini will propose to the king of Italy that Col. Umberto Nobile, chief pilot of the dirigible Norge, be awarded a gold medal for bravery and that he be promoted to the rank of general in the aeronautical corps with command over the dirigible forces of Italy. Sig. Mussolini will also suggest that Nobile be given a 500,000 lire bonus.

The king has received a message from Capt. Roald Amundsen which says: "Permit me to express my deference and gratitude to your majesty and to the Italian people for their splendid cooperation in connection with the transpolar flight."

FIVE SEIZED FOR ATTACKING GIRL LURED TO BARN

Five men were arrested yesterday and charged with being members of a group of ten men who attacked a 13-year-old girl late Saturday night in a barn in the rear of Austin avenue and Halsted street.

The girl told the police that she had promised Americo Agasto, 22 years old, 113 North Halsted street, one of the five men arrested, that she would accompany him to a theater that night. He called her on the telephone and told her that he was sending some friends to call for her in an automobile.

ble. The men took her to a barn and attacked her.

Besides Agasto three men are being held as accessories to the attack: they are Joe Molinari, 27 years old, 453 North Peoria street; Salvatore Degrazio, 30 years old, 661 North Racine avenue, who said he is a deputy bailiff of the Municipal court; and Rocco Molinari, 25 years old, 642 Noble street. Jerry Yaselli, 21 years old, 453 North Peoria street, was identified by the girl as one of the ten who attacked her. They will be arraigned in the Town Hall court today.

SEEK MISSING BOYS.

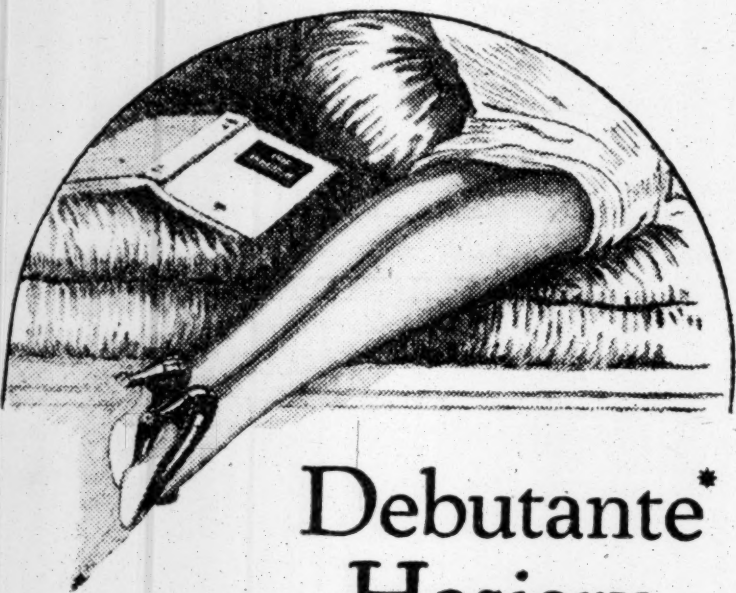

The parents of two 10-year-old boys, Raymond Woffick, 2218 Hermon avenue, and Robert Bryan, 3309 Hermon avenue, asked the police to look for them yesterday.

WILMETTE YOUTH KILLED IN AUTO SMASH IN EAST

Tuxedo Park, N. Y., May 16.—(AP)—William Tencher, a Princeton student from Wilmette, Ill., died early today from a fractured skull received when an automobile he was driving turned over in a ditch near here yesterday.

Robert Jamison III, Princeton student from Birmingham, Ala., who was in the car, was only slightly injured. The two students were returning from West Point. Tencher's body was held today pending the arrival of his father who was in Philadelphia on business at the time of the accident.

South of Warsaw, where the troops of the Posen, still supposedly loyal to the Witos government, are reported to be mobilizing for an advance on the city.

While the traffic policemen in their smart, clean, blue uniforms with white trimmings direct the movements of the vehicles and humans, sentries with fixed bayonets maintain guard lines in front of the public buildings. Several of the city parks in the center of Warsaw have been set aside to quarter the horses of the ulian regiments, whose lance standards, stuck upright in the flower beds, fly gay colored ribbons.

The officers, with a multiplicity of polished silver ornaments and braids in their collars and cuffs and the gleam of their uniforms, and wearing the flat four cornered Polish caps with brass visors, are seen whirling through the streets in the back seats of military cars.

And Over All Sunshine, Peace. Occasionally one sees a lonely looking man standing on the side lines, wearing his racial garb—a long black coat, black cloth cap, and flowing patriarchal beard and sideburns—simply watching the parade.

There is a continual clamor of honking auto horns, the sounding of sirens, the rattling of steel carriage wheels as the eternal Russian cobblesstones. And over it all it is sunshine and peace. That is Warsaw as I saw it this morning.

It was difficult to imagine that between Wednesday night and this morning thousands of rounds of shell had not been fired into and out of the city, that hundreds were killed or wounded, and that one government had been overthrown and another established in its place. It was difficult to believe it was the same terror stricken city I saw in last night, after a fifteen hour train journey from Vienna, a sixty mile motor dash from the place where the rail transportation ended, and at least a ten mile walk in the dark around the right flank of a battle in full progress.

Many Fled from War Zone.

The young crescent moon of early evening looked down across the sweet smelling fields and marshes south of Warsaw, where machine guns rattled and the sky was illuminated at times by shells bursting above a distant forest. Our progress was stopped when we encountered a flood of terror stricken peasant women carrying children in their arms and cursing men urging their farm horses or cattle before them. Beyond was the rumble of war—the rumble that in the last ten years they

HALLER ORGANIZES ARMY FOR ATTACK ON POLAND'S DICTATOR

Warsaw, May 16. — [U.N.] — The president of the Polish senate, Trompalski, has fled to Posen for the purpose of assisting Gen. Stanislaw Haller in organizing nation-wide resistance to Marshal Pilsudski. Unconfirmed reports state that Haller is preparing to march on Warsaw with 8,000 soldiers and a force of armed citizens. Gen. Haller is feverishly organizing troops, but whether a march on Warsaw is contemplated immediately or later this week is a matter of conjecture.

The partitioning of big estates among smaller landowners is to be one of the first agrarian reforms attempted by Premier Bartel, who heads the new Polish government dictated by Marshal Pilsudski.

The official casualty list, as issued today, gives 215 dead and 917 wounded. Those who followed the battles in and near Warsaw, however, insist that this is far less than the number who really lost their lives during the fighting.

President Wojciechowski is now heavily guarded at Spala castle, the former summer residence of the czar of Russia. Former Premier Witos and the members of his cabinet are interned at Vilanow.

have heard at least six times during the successive occupations of Warsaw by the Germans and Russians.

The Pilsudski forces were holding the edge of the forest and raking the main road with machine gun fire. West of the road, in a dense forest, was located a regiment of troops from Posen, a regiment of Poles, and their fellow countrymen, but now their enemies by a simple flip of political fate.

Getting Down to the Facts.

Stripped of their ample upholstery of wild rumors, the stirring events of the last four days present themselves as follows:

Tuesday night, army officers singing the old Pilsudski Legionnaire song, entered the cafes and distributed pamphlets expressing their dissatisfaction with the government and particularly with the alleged corrupt administration of the army.

At the same time a report spread that the adherents of the government, headed by the recently selected premier, Witos, had surrounded Marshal Pilsudski's villa outside of Warsaw and had attempted to take his life. A Uhlan and infantry garrison from Rembertow, a nearby town, immediately marched on the marshal's villa and formed protecting lines around it.

Pilsudski Marches on Warsaw.

Wednesday morning, Marshal Pilsudski, accompanied by these troops, as an escort, rode to Rembertow, where he called on the police chief and asked for protection. The police chief replied that his orders were to protect Warsaw from Marshal Pilsudski.

The marshal immediately marched toward Warsaw, accompanied by the 7th regiment of Uhlans, the 4th regiment of mounted chasseurs, the 23d and 11th regiments of infantry and four batteries of light and heavy artillery, all representing troops that had been stationed around Rembertow, presumably for the purpose of conducting war game maneuvers, scheduled for this week.

The student officers from the military training school at Warsaw, who were stationed at Rembertow for instruction, refused to join the mutiny and returned to the capital afoot and without arms.

Visited by the President.

Marshal Pilsudski reached Praga just across the River Vistula from Warsaw, at 4:30 Wednesday afternoon. Stanislaw Wojciechowski, president of the Polish republic, went alone and unescorted to see him. The president asked the marshal if he intended remaining loyal to the government. Marshal Pilsudski expressed a desire to present some of the army's alleged wrongs to the president, but the latter refused to discuss anything but a yes or no answer to his question on the subject of the marshal's loyalty.

The conference broke off abruptly and the president returned to Warsaw, going to Belvedere palace, where the cabinet awaited him.

With this last attempt at negotiations passed, Marshal Pilsudski's troops started crossing the river on both the Poniatowski and Ikerbiedz bridges. They encountered very little opposition on the Poniatowski bridge, on the Warsaw side of which is located a hospital and nurses' training school of the American Red Cross, managed by two American women, Helen Bridges of Franklin, O., and Julia Voliska of Detroit.

Bridges Quickly Won.

By 5:30 in the afternoon, Marshal Pilsudski's men held the bridge entirely and the government troops stationed on the Warsaw bridgehead had either withdrawn or passed through to the rear of Marshal Pilsudski's forces on declarations of allegiance to the marshal.

Half a mile up the Vistula other Pilsudski troops were forcing the passage of Kierbedz bridge. They encountered stubborn resistance from the old government troops stationed at Zamek palace, which is an old museum and ceremonial hall. Another battalion had taken up the defensive at the bridgehead position but a troop near the tall column of King Sigismund opened fire on the rear of its comrades.

With this development, all the resistance ended and Marshal Pilsudski's men on both sides of the river joined in front of the monument and started a march down Warsaw's principal thoroughfare, running parallel with the river bank to Belvedere palace, the residence of the president and at the time the hiding place of Premier Witos and his cabinet.

Joining forces with the troops that had crossed the river at the first bridge, the combined Pilsudski armies advanced westward down Ujazdowski boulevard, which leads to Belvedere palace. The government resistance centered around the young officers' training school.

Wednesday night and Thursday bitter fighting continued on this street. Marshal Pilsudski's artillery went into action from the Praga side of the river and began dropping shells into the palace gardens and along the boulevard front where the officer students and one loyal regiment maintained stubborn resistance behind barricades made from cobble stones and building material.

The legations of Great Britain, Denmark and France are on this street and all their windows were shot out, while the diplomatic occupants were forced to seek shelter in cellars. The house of the British commercial attaché was badly damaged by shell fire.

No American Casualties.

Mrs. Stanley Hawley, wife of the second secretary of the American legation, was out of the line of fire and the shells were unable to reach her

CONSTITUTION OF POLAND UNVIOLATED BY REVOLT, CLAIM

Washington, D. C., May 16. — [Special.] — Displacement of the Wojciechowski-Witos government in Poland by a provisional government under the leadership of Marshal Pilsudski was accomplished without violence to the constitution, according to an official statement from the Polish legation here tonight. It traced the upheaval to the financial crisis, the unemployment situation, and a general dissatisfaction with attempted economies by a reduction of army appropriations.

residence. There were no American casualties.

Col. Richard McKenny, the American military attaché, was caught within in his own house for several hours by the fire of the machine guns, which shot out all the windows and made exit impossible.

Friday the fighting increased in bitterness, the hospitals becoming swamped with wounded. Helen Bridges of the American Red Cross placed 100 of her student nurses in the city hospitals around Warsaw and then risked her life supplying them with bandages, medicaments and food.

A young American nurse in an automobile, caught once in the dangerous fire zone near a hospital, was forced to crawl 100 yards on her hands and knees behind a brick wall to reach safety.

Delivery wagons and push carts were pressed into service by the Red Cross for ambulances, because all the automobiles were being used by the military. First aid stations sprung up in many parts of the town.

The casualties increased yesterday on account of the old government supporters resorting to sniping tactics from the windows of upper floors of the buildings along the streets down which the Pilsudski troops were advancing. As a result, the soldiers began firing on every window from which any one was seen. The number of civilians wounded in this manner is not known, but it is expected to be large.

Curiosity Costs Lives.

The curiosity of the Polish crowds was unbelievable and many foolhardy citizens pressed forward into the zone of fire, while others watched the shell fire from one side, unaware of the enfilade, which moved many of them down before they realized the direction from which they were being fired upon.

The city police, who disappeared the previous day, resumed their posts in the streets and endeavored to keep the crowds out of the sections where the fighting was in progress.

In Lublin Union place and the Place of Our Savior, both of which are large street intersections, many casualties occurred and the most damage was done. Many of the saints' statues on the facade of the Church of Our Savior, close to the building of the ministry of war, were beheaded by shell fragments.

Meantime, the government troops, holding the army aviation field, remained loyal to the Witos government and sent out 500 mechanics armed with rifles. Many of these were killed or wounded and the rest were forced to surrender. They are now being held as prisoners.

Airmen Drop Bombs.

The aviators took to the air with their planes, carrying bombs and dropped several dozens of missiles on the "Vienna railway" station, which Marshal Pilsudski turned into a stronghold. Several bombs also were dropped along the boulevard, where the fighting was fiercest, but the overlapping branches of the horse chestnut trees, now white with blossoms, screened the attacking forces from aerial observation.

At 5:30 yesterday afternoon, the white flag went up over Belvedere palace and the Pilsudski men sounded "cease firing." Fifteen minutes later, small squads, armed with hand grenades, advanced without opposition into the palace grounds and into the building itself. Only one man remained. He was M. Chodzinski, minister of railroads, who was taken prisoner.

Retiring President Climbs Wall.

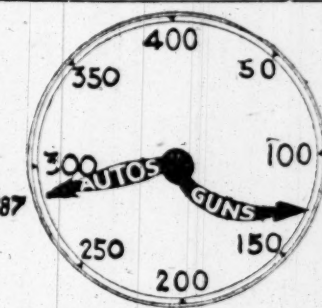

It was learned that the president, accompanied by two cabinet members, had left the palace fifteen minutes before the white flag had been flown. The president wore a steel helmet as he made his way through the throng in the palace gardens to a point along the west wall. With the help of the vines and his comrades, he shined over and dropped on the other side. He walked from there by the back roads to the suburb of Augustow, from which place he dispatched the resignations of himself and his cabinet to Marshal Pilsudski.

Premier Witos was taken prisoner several hours later in Sobieski's old palace, eight miles from Warsaw. Minister of Commerce Osiecki and Minister of Justice Piechocki escaped from Warsaw yesterday morning by airplane and are supposed to be in Posen.

New Cabinet Is Formed.

Marshal Pilsudski issued a proclamation today stating that M. Rakul, president of the old diet, was acting as president pro tem, and with Marshal Pilsudski's advice had formed a new cabinet, in which the marshal will serve as minister of war. It also was announced that new law electing would be held according to the old constitution, and under the direction of the new premier, Charles Bartel. The biggest question remaining for solution is what has happened to the rest of Poland. In Warsaw we do not know.

Tomorrow's Vote Real Beer Sentiment Test.

of the confidence of Pennsylvania in the administration.

Both ignored the prohibition question completely in their speeches for Pepper. Senator Reed of Pennsylvania called the Vane issue a "false alarm," contending that the real issues are the tariff, taxation, immigration, banking, farm relief, railroads, and merchant marine, of which he called Vane ignorant.

Pepper and Pinchot also have ignored the modification question or subordinated it in their stump speeches. Likewise the paramount issue of the campaign has been ignored or subordinated by the newspapers of the state, all of which, with only two or three exceptions, are for either Pepper or Pinchot.

Big Papers for Pepper.
Nearly all the papers in the larger cities are for Pepper. From their pages one would not gather that beer and wine enter into this fight or that Vane's espousal of the modification cause had upset all calculations in the Republican organization and given voice to a popular uprising in the cities against the bone-dry regime. Despite the efforts to suppress the facts, however, the question of modifying the Volstead act remains the issue of the campaign. It will be uppermost in the minds of 90 per cent of the voters next Tuesday. The wets will vote in the main for Vane and the dries will vote for either Pepper or Pinchot. No dries will vote for Vane. Some wets in Pittsburgh will be delivered to Pepper by the Mellon machine and some wets in the coal mining region will be delivered to Pinchot by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers. But taking it by and large the result will be a test of the attitude of Republicans in this state toward bone dry prohibition.

HUSBAND HUNTS MISSING WIFE.
While dependent on the death of her parents and general ill health, Mrs. Marie Schabo, 42, 1616 Dearborn street, disappeared May 14. Her husband, Walter, fearing that she will commit suicide, asked the Town Hall and Lincoln park police to look for her.

WACKER DRIVE'S WABASH AVE. LINK IS OPEN

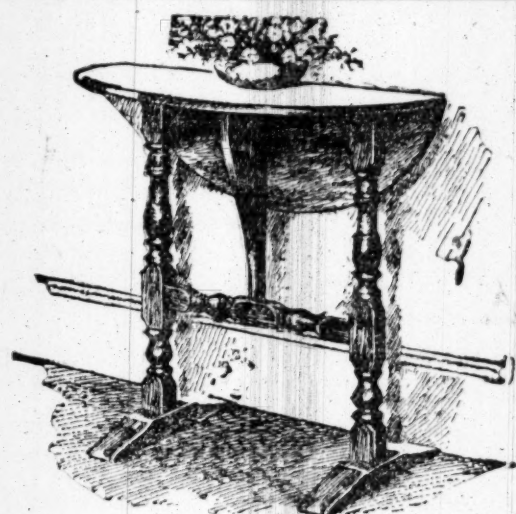

One more link in Chicago's chain of progress will be forged this morning when the east section of Wacker drive from Michigan to Wabash avenues is thrown open for traffic.

By order of John J. Sloan, president of the board of local improvements, special shifts of workmen rushed the laying of the last strip of asphalt on the upper level driveway Saturday. The Wabash avenue approach was finished earlier in the week.

Thousands of pedestrians, taking advantage of the short cut from the Michigan avenue bridge to the Loop, have been traversing the new section for a month. Parts of the lower deck also have been open for truck traffic for some time.

With the opening of the automobile driveway today, construction work will be concentrated on the improvement adjacent to the Clark street bridge, which temporarily was closed yesterday.

FOUND DEAD IN BATHROOM.
Heart disease is believed to have claimed Charles Bucher, 63, 1900 South Halsted street, found dead in a bathroom there yesterday.

NO furniture is so appropriate for country homes as Danersk Early American pieces. Yet the prices are modest.

For example, the butterfly trestle table with quaintly shaped rat-tail feet of maple, turnings taken from one of the finest museum examples, drop lids of solid white walnut and pegged mortise and tenon joints of the finest hand construction is only $25.00.

In our New England workshops we fashion many pieces of this type that make a country living room friendly and yet distinguished.

PARENTS UPHOLD 33 BOYS FIRED; PRESENT TACTICS

Oak Park High School Board Denounced.

Supplementing the suit in Superior court to secure the reinstatement of three ex-fraternity boys suspended for one year by the high school board of Oak Park, parents yesterday held a mass meeting to answer George Jones, president of the board, and to their statement are the attached to a committee of seven parents, headed by John Wynn, chairman. They include H. W. King, Sam. U. Owens, Frank H. Shaw, H. W. Millard R. Myers, F. H. Reed, and W. W. Hodgson.

Attack Boards Methods.
Tactics employed by the board in securing the signed confessions of membership from the boys, and their attack in the statement. It was stated that after promising them a suspension as punishment for joining the fraternities, Hinton G. Houghton, the detective employed by the board, directed the students to sign into their confessions the statement that the action was voluntary made without hope of leniency. "We want our boys to uphold the statement reads. 'All these boys did was to join a society to give us at the club and to meet in different homes. The society was purely social. If they had been openly violating any students' rights, 'chiquing' or creating a caste, which are the principal objections to fraternities, or their grades had fallen below requirements, the principal could have expelled them, the parents say. It did not have required a detective. Hold Officials at Fault."

"We believe that the members of the board, by inflicting this drastic punishment, erred more seriously than the boys. Is it to the best interests of the school to have the example that is set for the school board to use such methods in this case, and violate the promise made by its representatives? Isn't the loss of a year's education, which never can be replaced, a more serious punishment than was warranted?"

In a similar case which occurred in Springfield in 1922, fifty-six students were suspended, but members of the school board exercised the probation privilege and permitted the boys to remain in school. The Oak Park board, backed up by the confessions obtained by the detective, containing the phrase, "This is a voluntary act," has not given the boys the same chance to be put on good behavior that is extended an offender by a state court, for committing criminal offense, the parents' statement asserts.

GOFF BILL PLAN OF ENFORCEMENT RUNS INTO SNAG

Washington, D. C., May 16.—[Spc.]—The plan of enforcement of the Goff bill to tighten up prohibition enforcement, as approved by the senate judiciary committee upon recommendation of the treasury department, appeared unlikely today when it became known that committee amendments do not satisfy industrial alcohol using interests.

These groups, including drug manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers and manufacturers of toilet articles, are up in arms over the section which gives prohibition enforcement officials the right to refuse to renew alcohol permits at the end of annual periods without showing the reason. Assistant Secretary of the Treasury L. C. Andrews asked for such authority after he had attempted to follow this policy under the present law and the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at New York ruled that he had exceeded his legal powers.

The senate judiciary committee on Friday amended the permit section in a way, but the changes do not satisfy the alcohol using industries who fear that an arbitrary prohibition commissioner might do serious damage to a permit holder without cause.

W. J. Crouse, Washington representative of the National Wholesale Druggists' association and the American manufacturers of toilet articles said today:

"Such power might be lodged with a person wholly unfit to wield it or with a fanatical over zealous and possibly dishonest subordinate. In any case, the commissioner or his subordinate could have little if any knowledge of the facts in the case but would have to depend upon information obtained from subordinates."

It is shown by official records that nearly 25 per cent of the prohibition enforcement personnel have been re-enforced from subordinates.

U.S. PUTS SENTRY AT ANGLO-FRENCH DEBTS MEETING

Winston in London to Guard Yank Finance.

BY JOHN STEELE.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
LONDON, May 16.—The presence in London of Charles Winston, undersecretary of the United States treasury, has a direct connection with the negotiations for the settlement of France's war debt to Great Britain, which will begin tomorrow in the offices of the British treasury. Raoul Peret, French finance minister, arrived here today.

Difficulties have arisen over several points. During the war the Bank of France, in order to maintain the exchange of francs, obtained credits from the Bank of England amounting to £72,000,000 ($360,000,000) against which they deposited gold in London.

Charge 6½ Per Cent Interest.
By an arrangement made in 1923 and renewed last year, the Bank of England imposed on the Bank of France onerous terms of repayment, amounting to virtually 6½ per cent interest per year.

It is the view of the American treasury, as expressed by Mr. Winston, that these payments must be considered as a part of the total of war debt payments, and that, therefore, if the step by step treatment of the question is to be maintained, the Federal Reserve bank must be paid on the same principle with respect to the $780,000,000 advanced to the Bank of France during the war.

If this point of view is accepted, the French contend that the combined payments to England and America will be impossible, and, therefore, in order to maintain the step by step handling of the matter, they have suggested that the agreement with the Bank of England be reconsidered.

Norman Balks New Deal.

The British treasury is favorable to the French demand, but Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, has refused up to now to reconsider what in his eyes is a purely commercial agreement. He says this agreement can be scaled down only if the French adopt the general plan of financial settlement as laid down in the ultimatum he made to France, as exclusively revealed by The Times Friday.

Finance Minister Peret was accompanied to England by the vice governor of the Bank of France, M. Aupetit. The key to the debt negotiations lies in the result of the negotiations which M. Aupetit will hold with Mr. Norman. The French already have warned the British treasury that if the negotiations in London result in an agreement which is not acceptable to the New York financiers, Ambassador Benger's debt settlement with Washington will not be ratified by the United States senate and then the agreement with Britain automatically will fail.

The French negotiations are hopeful of settling quickly, in the hope that trade conditions will be favorable to stabilization of the franc, but the fear that the difficulties in the way are great.

Pre-Eucharistic Auto Caravans Visit Mundelein

Indications of increasing interest in the forthcoming international Eucharistic congress were given yesterday when hundreds of motorists from neighboring states as well as from Illinois visited the seminary of St. Mary of the Lake at Mundelein, Ill., scene of the Eucharistic procession which will close the great religious festival.

Students at the institution reported that an average of 570 cars an hour entered the grounds and that the traffic continued at about that number for nearly five hours.

A great pipe organ, constructed especially to accompany the great choruses which will accompany the masses to be celebrated at Soldiers' field during the congress is being built in St. Louis and will be shipped here shortly.

"STRAIGHT SHOOTING"

(A simple answer to many queries as to How a well-known Chicago Achievement came to pass.)

SOME PEOPLE WONDER how it happened that the House of O'Connor & Goldberg became in twenty years the greatest popular source of SUPER-STYLISH SHOES in the Americas ... and probably the largest purveyor of Men's and Women's High-class Footwear in the world. (We put "greatness" ahead of mere bigness because O-G shoes were "great" long before the House of O-G became so large in volume. You know that volume grows out of merit, but superior quality seldom sprouts from an effort at bigness.)

SOME PEOPLE may think that O-G's pre-eminence in the fashionable shoe-world "just happened." (Yet we all know that neither good taste nor good judgment is accidental, and result only from will and training.)

SOME PEOPLE may attribute O-G's status solely to energy—or good leather—or good advertising.

SEVERAL HUNDRED THOUSAND PEOPLE, however, are thoroughly familiar with the "secret" of O-G's rock-based success. (It's really no secret at all!) The core of O-G business philosophy is this:

EVERY THOUGHT AND ACT in the designing, making, and selling of all O-G footwear is Alive with the Ultimate Buyer's Own Thoughts and Feelings.

EVERY MEMBER of the great O-G personnel is "on YOUR side of the counter," in spirit—all the time. If not, please tell us. We shall appreciate it, because only thus can we continuously succeed in the O-G POLICY to hit the mark of public favor unerringly with the first aim—with no nervousness, no doubts, no shifting.

O-G FITTING is not a clock-watching process. Or a nervous one. Or a hasty one. Try it.

O-G's ENTIRE STORE CONDUCT is based on "straight shooting"—plus integrity of claims and pleasant manners. Always. Every hour of every day, in every O-G shop. (Even when it rains.)

The heads of this House never will "out-grow" their customers, and are constantly concerned with every trifle that can contribute to your permanent, and steadily growing, confidence in everything O-G.

Will you test our merchandising doctrines? (The next time you need footwear?)

Thank you.

FATHER SHOTS SUITOR BEARING RING TO GIRL, 14

She Sees Him Fall at Door of Her Home.

With a diamond ring in his pocket, Robert Polovina, 38, went yesterday to the home of his sweetheart, Dragina Sokula of 9018 Green Bay avenue, who is only 14 years old.

At the front door he met Daniel Sokula, the girl's father.

What do you want here, Sokula demanded. Polovina held up the ring. "I have come to give this to Dragina," he said.

Sokula told him to go away, to come back when he had $1,000 more to furnish a home. Moreover, he added, it would be better for the girl if she waited until she was at least 15 years old.

Polovina was insistent. Dragina escaped into the hallway and told her father not to be foolish—as far as she was concerned Robert needed no more than the diamond ring. With her looking on, her father became more courteous, the lover more insistent. When Polovina tried to enter the house Sokula shot him.

The bullet grazed the head of Polovina. He was taken to the South Chicago hospital, where his wound was treated. Then he went to the South

DARTMOUTH COLLEGE GETS $1,000,000 GIFT; TO BUILD LIBRARY

Hanover, N. H., May 16.—(Special.)—President Hopkins of Dartmouth today announced the gift of $1,000,000 from an anonymous friend of the college for a new library. Thus Dartmouth's greatest single need is to be met. Plans already are being rushed so that the foundation work may be begun early this summer. Work on the superstructure will begin early next spring, and, according to present plans, the library will be completed and ready for occupancy by the fall of 1928.

Chicago police station, where Sokula was held, to tell his story.

There, too, was Dragina with the ring. She was glad, she said, that her suitor's wound wasn't serious. But she had changed her mind. She didn't really want the ring. She giggled a little and told Polovina that he was too old and she was too young. "I have father was right. Then she offered him the ring. He shook his head. "Keep it for the next man," he said. And Dragina, smiling, kept it.

Lord Willingdon Due for Governorship of Canada

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

LONDON, May 16.—The Tribune understands that Lord Willingdon will succeed Lord Bessborough as governor general of Canada when the latter relinquishes his post in August. Lord Willingdon at present is head of the House of Commons. He is a Liberal and was governor of Madras from 1919 to 1923.

POLICE BULLET BRINGS THIEF TO BAY IN HOSPITAL

Coincidence late yesterday landed John Cummings, alias Murnell, a pickpocket with a long record, in the Bridewell hospital dangerously wounded with a bullet in the hip.

Charles Weaver, 1260 North Clark street, reported to the Maxwell street police yesterday that he had been robbed of $1,000 by three pickpockets while riding on a Halsted street car. Sgt. William Smith, on the watch for these thieves, saw three pickpockets at work on a 14th street car. He arrested them and was standing at a patrol box at Roosevelt road and Canal street when Cummings fled. The policeman fired one shot at the fugitive.

Later Murnell staggered into the Jefferson Park hospital at 1410 West Monroe street. He said his name was Patrick Kelly and that he had been shot by a love rival. Detectives were called and discovered he was Cummings. The men arrested with him were John Cohn and Phillip Solly, also known pickpockets.

COAST GUARDS INDICTED BY U. S. IN LIQUOR CASE

Seattle, Wash., May 16.—(AP)—Roy Lyle, federal district prohibition administrator, declared tonight that "at least five or six" United States coast guardsmen had been indicted by the federal grand jury, which brought accusations against nearly 200 persons in 37 indictments this week. Boatswain William Gardner, officer in charge of the coast guard cutter AB-11, was the first guardsman to be arrested. Other arrests today included: Warren C. Brill, harbor department pilot; Leroy Mills, harbor department, deep sea diver; Sylvester A. Moore, who formerly had charge of issuing alcohol permits in the Pacific northwest; and Fred Nourse, Kirkland, Wash., aviator. A Seattle police captain, lieutenant, county sheriff, and two deputies are also under indictment.

You, Too, Can Possess Such Beauty as This!

BEAUTY—a well proportioned body—is the desire of every woman. This can be yours. The new Charlie White Muscle Sense System Studio meets the unique requirements that make this possible. There is nothing quite like the MUSCLE SENSE SYSTEM and there is nothing quite like this studio. It is arranged to give specialized attention to the individual patient, as well as to accommodate small classes—at reduced prices. The daylight exercise room, opening to private dressing rooms, rest rooms, Italian marble shower baths, massage rooms, and other special equipment of the most modern type, some of which had to be specially manufactured for this studio, makes the CHARLIE WHITE MUSCLE SENSE STUDIO the finest in the world for this purpose.

No apparatus, no drugs, no starvation diet, no hours of weary gymnastics

THE Charlie White Muscle Sense System is simple, natural and a smooth road to health and beauty. Whether you are stout or thin, whether some part of the body like NECK, ARMS, BUST, WAIST, ABDOMEN, HIPS, THIGHS, CALVES OR ANKLES need to be developed or reduced, through this system the body can be made into perfect lines that present indisputable beauty.

MR. WHITE makes a personal study of each and every patient and prescribes a program which is required by each and every individual. After the prescribed exercises which Mr. White personally directs, the patient comes under the SUPERVISION OF WOMEN ATTENDANTS, who give the proper care, bath, body and facial massage. All treatments exclusively for women.

Attend Charlie White's Classes
at a Specially Low Price

Charlie White is now giving class instruction, and women who avail themselves of this training can do so at a much lower rate than that of private instruction. Charlie White is forming new classes every day; the prices are easily within your reach. Every woman receives personal attention from Charlie White; there are no assistants. He is the one man in Chicago who is fitted by experience and training to make you beautiful. Decide today!

DR. MARX TAKES RULE IN GERMANY, KEEPS CABINET

People's Party Agrees to Support His Regime.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 16.—Former Chancellor Dr. Wilhelm Marx, leader of the Center party and one time also minister of justice and the occupied territories in the Luther cabinet, is the new ruler of Germany. He has succeeded where Gessler and Brüning failed.

After prolonged negotiations today with the German People's party, Dr. Marx informed President von Hindenburg that he had come to an agreement with the People's party. This put him in a position to accept the chancellorship, offered by the president. He will form a cabinet mostly the same as the Luther cabinet; Dr. Johannes Dietrich of the Center party will be the newcomer as minister of justice; he and Dr. Marx are the only exceptions.

Backed by Centrists.
The People's party has agreed not to make any trouble for the Marx government, while the Center party has expressed readiness to accept cooperation of German nationals in the government on certain conditions, particularly on acknowledgment by the latter of the government's foreign policy.

At the same time, the aim of the government would be to carry on affairs with the support of the Socialists rather than with the Nationalists in view of the fact that there thus would be a stronger guarantee that the present foreign policy would be continued.

Police Charge Mob of 15,000.

BERLIN, May 17.—[U. N.]—Police charged into a crowd of 15,000 demonstrating Nationalists and communists tonight and one onlooker is reported to have been seriously wounded by a wild bullet fired from the crowd. A number of Nationalists wearing the uniforms of the Fascist league were arrested. The demonstration began as a protest against the referendum for expropriation of former royalties.

Wood Fires in Iron County Worry Michigan Wardens

Iron River, Mich., May 16.—[Special.]—Fire wardens are praying for rain to quench forest fires which have broken out in Iron county since Friday. Worrying fires are reported in the vicinity of Sagola and Saunders and a number of grass fires are burning near Iron River.

FORMER THEATER MANAGER HELD FOR CON GAME

Lester Bryant of the Belmont hotel, former manager of the Playhouse theater and a theatrical producer, was arrested yesterday on a complaint signed by Harrison Beckwell, 323 Belden avenue, charging confidence game and larceny by bail.

Bryant was taken from the hotel early Sunday morning by Sgt. Ahern of the East Chicago avenue station and his bonds fixed at $20,000. Late last night the bond was reduced by Judge Francis Borelli to $5,000 and he was released. His bond was signed by Dan del Rate, 2603 Devon avenue. According to Beckwell, he gave Bryant $15,000 to invest in a road show, which he charges the latter never did. Beckwell told the police he has been hunting Bryant for the last three months, making several trips to New York in an effort to have him arrested. Bryant will be arraigned in the East Chicago avenue court today.

Another Money Saving Selling Pushman's New Importation Belouchistan Oriental Rugs

Our special selling of Persian Rugs, a few weeks ago, proved very popular. Every one who saw them bought one or more—some people selected as many as a half-dozen. These values are as good, or better, and are sure to be "snapped up" quickly. Hence we urge immediate selections to avoid disappointment.

Belouchistan Rugs of this quality are seldom offered at these prices. A special importation, advantageously purchased by us, permits selling them for about one-third less than such rugs are usually priced.

In the various groups are 169 rugs—fine, "silky" qualities in beautiful rich tones of blue, red, mulberry and ivory. A few are antiques.

Regular $25 Values 23 pieces—your choice. The average size is around 4 ft. by 2.6. $17

Regular $30 Values In this group are 46 rugs, averaging in size around 5 feet by 2.6. Your choice. $21

Regular $35 Values In all, 50 choice pieces. The sizes average around 5 feet by 3 feet. $24

Regular $40 Values A fine selection from a group of 50 rugs, averaging in size around 6 ft. by 3 feet. $27

CALLS LAUSANNE TREATY INSULT TO CHRISTIANITY

New York, May 16.—(AP)—The Lausanne treaty was pronounced "a purposeless and humiliating surrender to a red handed, faithless military despotism" by Henry Morgenthau in a letter to Senators Borah and Swanson made public today.

The former United States ambassador to Turkey stated that his opinions were the result of his observations in a recent trip around the world. He supported his contentions by recalling the Smyrna atrocity and other acts which, he said, had stamped Mustafa Kemal Pasha as "one of the most brutal monsters of all ages."

"America, the greatest Christian nation in the world," the letter said, "cannot, without discrediting her faith and without justifying herself, strike hands in friendship with a government which has murdered or expelled 4,000,000 Christians."

Mr. Morgenthau pointed out that

INVADE ALBANIA

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.) VIENNA, Austria, May 15.—A reliable report from Tirana, capital of Albania, tonight says well armed bands which embarked on the Italian coast landed on the Albanian coast and are pushing on toward Tirana. Albanian government troops are opposing the invaders. The Albanian government is withholding all messages.

Turkey had seized the revenues which were to be devoted to the external debt, and had reserved the right to abrogate any treaties.

"What is the use," he asked, "of making any treaty with a government which has no respect for the sanctity of international agreements, which claims the right to abrogate unilaterally any existing treaty?"

Dismissing the financial side of the Turkish problem with the suggestion that Turkey must put her finances in the hands of her creditors before further loans could be realized, Mr.

Morgenthau laid the greatest stress of his argument upon the human side. He quoted an interview with himself which previously was published in the Red Cross Magazine in 1918, and in which he detailed the alleged crimes of the Turks and asked if Christian governments were to condone such offenses.

'Nonstop' Purse Snatcher Confesses Fifty Thefts

Known to the police as the "non-stop" purse snatcher, Edward Swiatkowski, 19 years old, 2721 North Monticello avenue, who was arrested yesterday, confessed to Deputy Chief

John Stege that he had snatched about fifty purses from women of the north and northwest sides. He named two companions, Joseph Podowski, 16 years old, and Joe Murovski, 15 years old, 3554 Belmont avenue. They were arrested. Edward rode alongside his victims on a bicycle and seized their purses.

We recommend as specially worthy of consideration these beautiful

ORIENTAL CARPETS

Selected piece by piece, by our own representatives in the Orient and imported directly to our doors. Here you will find in point of assortment, quality and values offered a collection unsurpassed anywhere in America.

SHAHABBAS, size 20.0x16.4, a rug of unique beauty, and of a quality that will appeal instantly to those who really know rugs. The general tone is the most wonderful blue, with rose border and allover design employing a wealth of detail. Any description, however well done, will be inadequate. It should be seen if only for the pleasure it will afford. An unusual value at $4,750.

ISPAHAN, size 28.4x17.7, this masterpiece of rare old time Persian weaving conveys the meaning—Ispahan—in its fullest sense. Employing all the artistry of the period in its colors and the profusion of its design. A beautifully rich, soft rose is the dominant color in both field and border. A wonderful specimen. Price $4,500.

KASHAN, size 21.9x12.4. Royal blue allover design and rose border. For sheer luxury and sumptuous beauty the Kashan carpet or rug has no equal. The size and coloring of this specimen make it specially noteworthy. Price $3,275.

LARISTAN, size 20.3x13.5. In addition to its sound quality, the decorative value of its blue field in allover Feraghan pattern with rose border makes this carpet specially adaptable to any room in the house calling for a carpet of this size. It is a very good value at a reasonable price, $2,800.

SAROUK, size 18.5x12.2. Deep Persian blue ground; allover design of leaves and flowers in marvelous color combinations of which rose predominates. Rose border. A rich and beautiful specimen of the Sarouk. Price $2,250.

KASHAN, size 17.6x11.3. Rose ground with allover design and blue border. Characteristic of the Kashan this carpet will give an additional air of luxury to the carefully appointed living room or bedroom of larger size. It is a matchless value at $2,100.

SAROUK, size 18.1x11.0. Here is an indescribably beautiful carpet with a rich golden field, allover design and rose border. Its distinguished colorings are as unusual as its size. Rarely is such a carpet seen at anywhere near its price, $1,850.

BLJAR, size 19.0x12.2. Breathing the wild bold spirit of the Kurds this carpet, with its field and border of rich, dark, wonderful blue and handsome design, will lend a note of character and distinction to any surrounding. Price $1,800.

LAVERE, size 15.4x11.0. The very mention of Laverre suggests rich, quiet luxury, exemplified in soft colorings and design in perfect harmony and rhythm. This carpet with its ground of rose allover design and blue border is a very distinguished piece at a very reasonable price, $1,500.

LINK TO FELONS FAILS TO SHAME HUNGARY REGIME

Premier, Bishop, Police Chief in Forger Ring.

BY E. WILKIE.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
VIENNA, May 16.—The mentality of the Hungarian ruling clique, gloriously revealed in the sensational hearing of the franc forgers trial at Budapest just closed.

The country's former premier said when he first heard of the scheme his only concern was whether it was feasible or not; the chief of police attached no importance to the plan; the army bishop, who had administered the oath to the forgers, launched a patriotic address on the witness stand and was not interrupted by the court. The defendants, witnesses, counsel, court, audience and the whole public seem to think the Hungarian franc treaty gives sufficient excuse for overthrowing the moral code of centuries.

Safe Conduct for Crooks.
Today's most important blowup was the testimony of former Premier Friedrich to the effect that Premier Count Bethlen himself signed safe conduct papers for the forgers. First Count Paul Teleki, a former premier and now a member of parliament, a university professor, and president of the Cartographic institute, was called to the stand. When asked by the court whether he had any knowledge of the forgeries, he related that in the spring of 1922 and 1923, Prince Ludwig Windisch-Graetz and Mr. Meszaro (indicted in Austria for the Czechoslovak kronen forgeries) called on him and explained a scheme to forge franc notes to finance a patriotic campaign.

His Patriotic Duty.
To the court's question on whether he approved of the action, Count Teleki said, "I did not approve, but in view of its clear, patriotic purpose, I laid it my duty to examine the matter with respect to its feasibility."
"As Prince Windisch-Graetz asked me about experts, I asked Ladislav Gero, known as a prominent expert, to go to the prince and to examine the plan."
Gero later reported the matter as unfeasible. This, Count Teleki said, ended the matter for him, saying he had discussed it with his friend, Chief of Police Nadassy, but gained the impression he attached no importance to the matter, also regarding it as unfeasible.

BANDIT CAUGHT IN GUN BATTLE; CHAUFFEUR SHOT

After a running battle with an Evergreen Park policeman and a detective bureau squad early yesterday, a bandit who a short time before had shot and wounded a taxicab driver was arrested at 95th street and West-end avenue.

George Biggs, 6239 South LaSalle street, was the man captured. He halted Walter Quan, 218 East 56th street, leaped on the running board of his cab and demanded money. When Quan, instead of obeying, struck him, Biggs fired and the bullet struck Quan in the arm.

Policeman John Paller of Evergreen Park heard the shot. Biggs saw him coming and fired. As he fled across the prairie the bureau squad commanded by Sergt. George Schupolsky joined Paller and the fugitive surrendered.

COUPLE IN AUTO ROBBED.

Two armed men robbed Carl W. Peterson, 2754 North Paulina street, and Anna Trautman, 3030 Sheridan road, early yesterday in front of the latter's home. The couple was in an automobile parked at the curb. The robbers took $14 from Peterson.

A. W. GILCHRIST, EX-GOVERNOR OF FLORIDA, DIES

New York, May 16.—(AP)—Albert W. Gilchrist, former governor of Florida, died at a hospital here today. He had been a patient in the institution since last November. He had undergone several operations for an affection of the thigh. He was 65 years old. Robert W. Gibbs, a half brother, was with him.

Mr. Gilchrist was a descendant of relatives of both George Washington and James Madison.

Graduated from the United States Military academy in 1882, he turned first to civil engineering. His public career began with his election to the Florida house of representatives in 1893 and he was reelected in 1895.

With the outbreak of the Spanish American war he resigned a commission as brigadier general in the Florida militia and enlisted as a private in the regular army, being sent to Santiago, Cuba. He was discharged with the rank of captain.

Fifteen Killed When Train Falls Into Mexico Canyon

Mexico City, May 16.—(AP)—Fifteen persons were killed and many injured today when a passenger train running between Tacuba and Ixmiquilpan, jumped the track and fell into a canyon near Ixmiquilpan. Nearly every coach on the train was partly demolished.

EASTERNERS HERE TO KNIT TRADE BONDS WITH CITY

New England shook hands with the middle west yesterday when the "Minute Man" new crack train of the Boston and Maine railroad, pulled into the La Salle street station on its maiden run and delivered a delegation of easterners whose purpose is to establish closer trade relations between the east and west.

The visitors, officially representing eastern states, were met at the station by a delegation from the Chicago Association of Commerce and the Illinois Manufacturers' association.

A high speed program has been outlined for the easterners today. They banqueted at the Rainbow Garden last night, will meet Mayor Dever at the city hall at 10 a. m. today, will be guests of the Illinois Manufacturers' association at the Palmer house at noon and after broadcasting speeches over station WHT will make an automobile tour of the city and leave on the "Minute Man" for home at 5:30 this afternoon.

Small Fire Routs Guests from Rooms in C. A. A.

Smoke from fire in a grease chute in the Chicago Athletic association's clubhouse, 12 South Michigan, early this morning routed numerous guests from their rooms in the dormitories and soon was extinguished and the loss was small.

KICK FROM HORSE IS FATAL

A kick from a horse which he was leading to the barn on March 13 in the lumber yard of Lord & Bunnett, 2424 South LaSalle street, caused the death yesterday of Jacob Simon, 75 years old, 3029 South Paulina street, a driver for the lumber company.

Unborn Baby Saved by Surgeon After Mother Dies

Physicians at St. Joseph's hospital, Aurora, yesterday saved the life of an unborn baby after its mother had died. Mrs. August Weisbrook, 20 years old, who was expecting the birth of her child, became suddenly ill during the afternoon. She died while she was being taken to the hospital. Seven minutes after her death the physicians performed an operation. The child, who weighed nearly eight pounds, was normal in every respect. At the hospital it was said he would probably live.

Queen Mother of Gypsies Missing; She's 105 Years

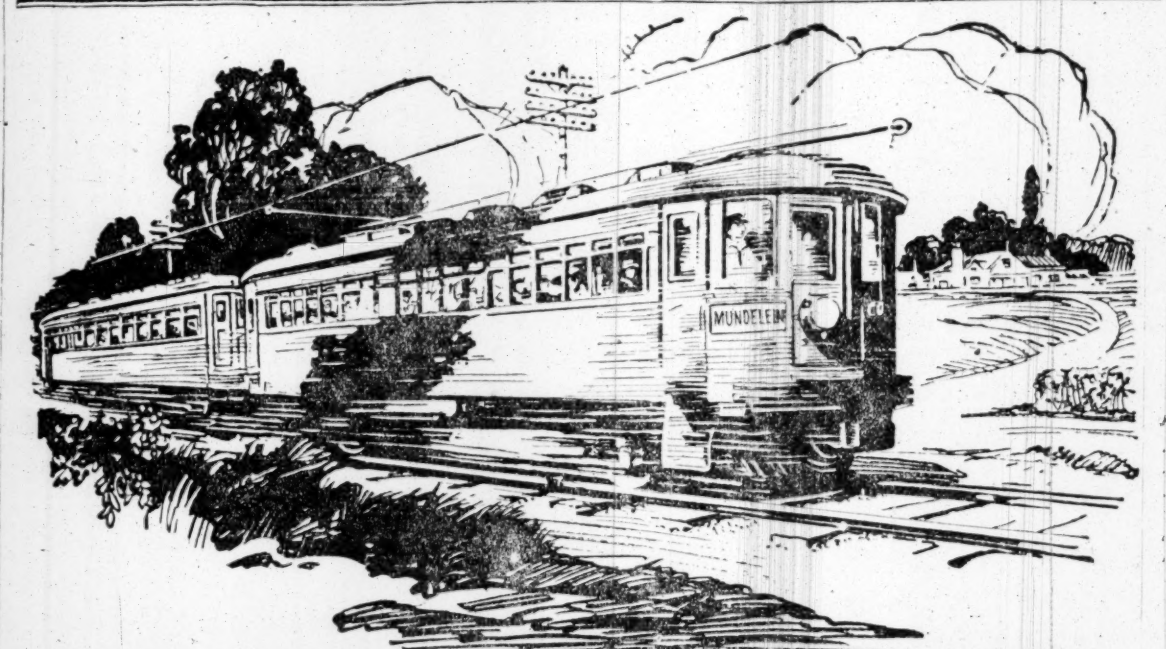

Mrs. Marie Bimbo, queen mother of the Chicago gypsies, who is reputed to be 105 years old, has been missing from the gypsy territory around 14th and Halsted streets for three days. The Maxwell street police were asked yesterday to search for her. Mrs. Bimbo is the mother of Steve Bimbo, the king of the gypsies.

FIREMAN DROPS DEAD ON JOB

Patrick Burke, 42 years old, 1827 South Redie avenue, fell dead yesterday while on duty as a fireman in the United States Post office building, 425 3th avenue. Head disease was the supposed cause.

Breaks Knee in Leap to Avoid Police Capture

Harry Johnson, 35 years old, 2643 Armitage avenue, is in the Bridewell hospital, and Mrs. Anna Sather, his landlady, is in the women's quarters of the Chicago avenue station following Johnson's attempt to evade police, who were searching for him for non-support of his wife and family. The police entered the Sather apartment seeking Johnson. As the detectives waited in another room, Mrs. Sather slammed the door and Johnson jumped out of a window. He broke his kneecap when he landed.

CONGRESS TAKES UP FRENCH DEBT PACT THIS WEEK

Some Opposition but Final Approval Looked For.

Washington, D. C., May 16.—(Soc.)—First legislative consideration of the French debt settlement is scheduled in congress this week. Secretary Mellon, as chairman of the American debt funding commission, and Representative Burton (Rep., Ohio), member of the committee who introduced the bill for ratification, will appear before the house ways and means committee Wednesday.

The committee is certain to report the bill favorably after one or two days of hearings. Representative Burton (Rep., Ohio), a member of the committee who led an unsuccessful fight on the Italian debt settlement in the house, said today that he expected to vote against the French debt measure but that he regarded it as useless to attempt to defeat it on the floor.

The disposition is to delay action by either the house or the senate until after the French parliament has given its approval. This course has been followed in the case of most of the debt settlements.

Advises received by Secretary Mellon are that the French parliament is certain to ratify the settlement within a few days after it reconvenes on May 22.

If there seems no chance of an adjustment by congress before the middle of June the tentative program is to call the bill up for action in the house during the first week in June.

The administration believes that the opposition in the senate will exhaust its oratory within a week or two after the bill reaches the senate floor and that final action can be obtained by the middle of June.

VISION CHICAGO AS AIR TRANSIT CENTER OF U. S.

Chicago, in the opinion of John A. Mitchell Jr., one of the founders of the National Air Transport, Inc., is destined to be the aviation center of America. Mr. Mitchell, a former army aviator, is the son of the president of the Illinois Merchants Trust company, and his new air corporation has just established the Chicago-Dallas mail and express air route.

The reason that Chicago has grown more than any other city is that it got the jump on rail transportation," Mr. Mitchell said. "It became the hub and by so doing insured its future growth. We can be the hub of aviation. We have every natural advantage and in addition we have the rail lines as a backup."

"Chicago cannot become the hub of aviation by talking. I felt it a privilege to participate in the organization of the National Air Transport. I believe it will succeed. But it must have patronage."

WHEREVER ANNA RIDES HER LITTLE PIG IS SURE TO GO

Anna Fitzgibbon has a little pig that will never go market. For everywhere that Anna goes, the pig follows—on a leash. Patrick, the pig, three weeks old and about the size of three small persimmons, arrived in Chicago with the Chicago civic opera singer yesterday morning and went with her to visit Mrs. E. D. Graham, 24 Banks street, until train time.

In spite of his dainty pink snout, curly tail, and gentlemanly manners, Patrick's presence in the baggage car coming down from Minneapolis was objected to, Miss Fitzgibbon said.

So when the singer departed for New York at 5:30, Miami, the maid, and Patrick, the pig, occupied a special drawing room.

Miss Fitzgibbon has been filling her first vaudeville engagement in Minneapolis. Two other celebrities who passed through Chicago en route to New York were Leatrice Joy and Beverly Sills, motion picture stars.

SHOULD PREVENT WEAK HEARTS, PARENTS WARNED

Two per cent of the 134,000 children examined by the city health department in 1925 were suffering from heart disease, according to Dr. Herman N. Lundgren's weekly bulletin.

It is shocking to find so many of our youngsters starting life with that handicap," he said. "The majority of these were acquired cases. Heart disease in children is preventable."

The causes, Dr. Lundgren said, are (1) communicable diseases such as scarlet fever and diphtheria (2) disordered tonsils and adenoids as a starting point for acute rheumatic fever (3) defective teeth (4) wrong health habits.

The best preventives for the disease, the bulletin says, are strict quarantine measures starting life with that handicap.

Skin can quickly be so much lovelier— when cleansed this natural, doubly-safe way

NOW all may know how lovely skin becomes when it is cleansed in this new, natural way—one of the most delightful surprises any woman can have.

Each of you may make a one week's test. It is free. Simply mail coupon below.

Beauty's first law

All beauty authorities know that skin must be kept thoroughly cleansed, if it is to be lovely. But at the same time it must be kept soft. Soap-cleansing is needed at least once daily. The difficulty is that soaps fail to keep your skin soft.

Now a natural cleansing method gives you both important results. Softens your skin as it cleanses.

Sixty years of research have produced a soap that is unlike any you have known.

It cleanses—way down into the tiny pores.

Yet, at the same time, actually gives new softness to your skin. The name is Olivio (pronounced "Olive-EYE lo"). The laboratories which produce it were noted for their unusual soap-making ability more than a half century ago!

Why this happens

You find in Olivio only the finest, imported oils. These are skillfully blended with rare herbal balsams—aromatic, and beneficial in a common-sense, natural way.

That is why perfect cleansing is combined with the most soothing, lotion-like effect upon sensitive skin.

Instructions follow

Wash your face thoroughly once a day—morning or evening. Warm water is best. Use Olivio, for the reasons given. Rinse carefully with cold water.

There's no tight, drawn feeling—you'll notice. Skin does not shine. This shows the soothing, softening action of Olivio, and shows how Olivio protects your skin from any roughening, or chapping.

Very soon others will envy your complexion.

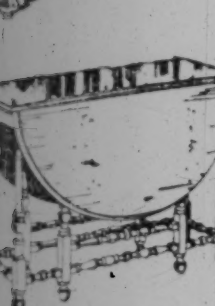

You will like everything about Olivio. The scent is delicate, subtle, delightful. It lathers marvelously—and quickly. Rinses cleanly—and instantly. Each cake lasts amazingly long. And it regularly costs but 10 cents a cake—anywhere—although a dollar couldn't buy greater quality.

Week's test free

Millions of women know the benefits Olivio brings. You, too, want to know them.

R. O. T. C. PART OF OUR NATIONAL LIFE, DAVIS SAYS

Washington, D. C., May 16.—(Special.)—Military training in schools and colleges is national insurance, and the growing demand for such training indicates that its worth is now generally recognized as an integral part of our national life, according to Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis.

These statements were contained in a reply to a letter from O. Ellery Edwards, a New York attorney, who wrote contrasting the present training methods in the Alabama Polytechnic institute with those in vogue in 1894 when he was a student.

Secretary Davis said that "the same development of this activity is another striking example of the wisdom of the national defense act and the way the regular army, emancipated from its pre-war isolation, is entering into the national life for the purpose of carrying out of the provisions of that act."

"It has been charged that the war department is attempting to militarize our country. Even today this fallacious doctrine is being preached in the educational institutions where we maintain reserve officers' training corps units to prepare our youths so that, in the event of another emergency, we may have available leaders for our cause. The difference between a system of adequate defense and militarism is so great that it should be apparent to all right thinking people."

"A glance at the history of our country will reveal two facts, the one that we have never entered into aggressive warfare but have fought only for the preservation of our rights and ideals; and the other, that in our past wars, due to unpreparedness, we have sacrificed untold lives and wealth and have even had the honor of our nation placed in jeopardy."

GO TO PENNSY FAIR TO ARRANGE STATE'S EXHIBIT

Illinois' commissioners in charge of the state's building and exhibit at the sequel-centennial exposition at Philadelphia commemorating the 150th anniversary of American independence, left for the Quaker city yesterday to inspect the building site and make final preparations for the building and exhibit.

The legislature appropriated $150,000 to be spent in representing Illinois at the exhibition. About $60,000 will be used for erecting the Illinois building and the balance will be spent in advertising Illinois products.

Gov. Small, who had intended to accompany the commission, was compelled to cancel his trip at the last minute. He was represented by his son-in-law, A. E. Inglish, administration auditor. The commission consists of State Senator J. H. Forrester (Rep., Christian), chairman, Senator Randolph Boyd (Rep., Henry), secretary; State Representative A. Otis Arbold (Rep., Adams), J. P. Meyers of Freeport, and Edward Hines of Chicago. Mr. Hines, who is convalescing at Hot Springs, Va., was represented by J. H. Biscof. Mr. Hines will meet the other members of the commission at Philadelphia today.

Arrest Chicago Girl with Man in Stolen Automobile

Milwaukee, Wis., May 16.—(Special.)—Miss Noma Elwing, 23, of Chicago, found in a stolen car with Judson Sullivan, 25, is being held by police pending charges to be brought by O. A. Ballard of La Crosse, owner of the automobile.

TEMPERATURE OF MAN FALLS 11 DEG. IN 8 HOURS

Boston, Mass., May 16.—(U. P.)—A case described by physicians as "one in a million" is that of Dr. A. G. Nichols of Boston, who experienced an eleven degree drop in temperature within an eight hour period. Hospital physicians reported that Dr. Nichols' temperature had dropped from 106 to 95, a fluctuation without precedent in their experience. Normal temperature is 98.6-10. They attributed the phenomenon to a focal infection which developed following an operation for acute appendicitis. A blood transfusion has been performed in an effort to save Dr. Nichols' life.

PROHIBITION

The relentless offspring of blind physical force! The inevitable breeder of lawlessness, corruption, and violence!

WHY?

A boiling tea kettle does not explode because the unsealed lid automatically lifts, permits the steam to escape, and lessens the pressure. A sealed jar containing fermenting substances will explode because it has no safety outlet for the expanding gases released by slow fermentation.

A man or a nation will "explode" when the fervent heat of pent-up resistance within the individual or collective body reaches the limit of moral control.

A legalized national collective prohibition or compulsion relating to anything can only deal with human action on the physical plane—what men do or do not.

It should be obvious that no form of legislative prohibition or compulsion can control thinking.

Prohibition is the father of physical force and violence. It creates the mental cause of lawlessness which requires more force in the vain attempt to control its own creation and finally finds that such immoral force can only end in weakness, disaster, and dissolution.

No human government can control the gathering force of an accumulation of unseen thoughts of millions craving alcoholic beverages when that force bursts the bounds of legal ability for moral enforcement.

No intelligent person will today deny that the mental element controls all bodily action and life in the individual.

Therefore, the mental element must also control the life of the multiplied individual—the Nation.

Reason must then convince all that morbid cravings or unsatisfied longings in the minds of the people for that which is prohibited—thought sealed up without safety valve or ventilator—accumulates in the national mentality, slowly, perhaps, but nevertheless surely, a force more powerful and uncontrollable than its symbolic physical counterpart, fermentation in a sealed jar.

Millions of individual unoffending citizens honestly believe that certain kinds of alcoholic beverages in strictly moderate quantities are essential to their health and happiness.

If this is considered by a majority of the people a mistaken viewpoint, the remedy according to truly American standards is for the higher viewpoint to educate the lower, while wisely controlling excesses by individual penalties required under just civil codes—thus step by step legislating by the only effective power of the State, the common consent of the people, until unrestrained passions and appetites are not only held in check, but at least measurably dissolved, and true temperance becomes a national characteristic.

A majority, or even a substantial minority in a state or a great city, cannot be indicted and punished. The attempt would mean little less than civil war.

We invite the support of those who recognize the scientific correctness of the above viewpoint.

The prohibition issue affects over one hundred and fifteen million people. It is not an issue among Christian Scientists who understand Mrs. Eddy's teaching that "strong drink" is always "an evil," and that true temperance ultimates in "total abstinence."

The scientifically correct solution of a vital national problem affecting millions should not be influenced by tragic individual experiences any more than a general should reverse his campaign because of the sad individual cases of wounded and suffering soldiers.

Mrs. Eddy's published writings condemn coercion, compulsion, or prohibition as a means of impelling or accomplishing any kind of individual, national, or world reform. If these means were approved in her writings, they would contradict the whole theory and legitimate practice of Christian Science.

Mrs. Eddy taught Christian Scientists to abandon the use of drugs. She never taught them to legislate to prevent others from using drugs if they felt they required them. It would be inconsistent with Christian Science to prevent even a small minority from having drugs if they wanted them. Mrs. Eddy's teaching was exactly the same in regard to the use of alcoholic beverages.

Every Christian Scientist must now either repudiate the scientifically incorrect position to which the entire "Mother" Church membership has been erroneously committed by its mistaken officials, or stand in open opposition to the unmistakable published teachings of Mary Baker Eddy.

SMITH URGED TO SIGN REFERENDUM ON PROHIBITION

N. Y. Congressmen Assail Evils of Dry Law.

Washington, D. C., May 16.—(Special.)—Approval of the bill now awaiting signature to authorize a state referendum on prohibition at the next general election is bespoken in the petition forwarded to Gov. Al Smith today by twenty-one Democratic members of the New York delegation in the house. Congressional and state assembly districts are so "derrymaned" that a single dry rural vote offsets twenty liberal city votes, and a fair test of the prohibition issue in the election of a United States senator or governor is impossible, the petition contends, because the Republican party, having nominated "camouflaged and hypocritical candidates," hopes "to carry water on one shoulder and liquor on the other."

Elmer Enjoys Wagner Over Ether Waves

Praises Work of the Edison Orchestra.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

The Edison Symphony orchestra and vocal soloists, K.Y.W., are tying up the writer's typewriter operations through a good and interesting program from a new record of the Chicago Sunday Evening club services at this late, almost press time, 11 o'clock hour making thinking difficult.

Their selections from Wagner's "Lohengrin" won admiration anew for that master orchestral tone-skilled mind, Richard Wagner.

One also admires Morgan L. Eastman's Edison orchestra. A moment later also were played Glazounov's symphony "Autumn and Winter" and many others of equal interest.

At 10:15 Louis Meehan, tenor, sang "Sacred Raptures," a recitative and aria from Handel's oratorio "Solomon." Here's due credit for the work of Sallie Menkes, the accomplished accompanist.

My conscience hurts me because I could not manage to hear the program by the Illinois Central chorus, W-G-N, 3 to 4.

All right, I will plunge pell-mell and wholeheartedly into a rarely impressive program by the J. Lewis Browne instrumental ensemble and mixed quartet, K.Y.W., 4:30 to 5:30. Perhaps nothing steller and grander has graced the afternoon air.

The selections were new, and they were sung with a strength, an earnestness, and a seriousness that was unusual—wonderful, sublime.

An ensemble number, "Agnus Dei" (Schubert), was extremely beautiful. Yon's "Jesu Bambino," sung by Mary Ann McCabe, soprano, was a thing of sacred beauty.

In passing, would it not be timely reverently to pause a minute with the WLS 630 Little Brown Church of the Vale? It is a quaint, modest country service, but in it there is something of the purity and charm of a wild rose. The Dr. Reece male quartet, Bloomington, Ill., and the WLS string trio furnished the music last evening.

St. Ita's church choir (boys' voices) furnished the most of the WJQ 8 to 10 program. And new announcer did the announcing. I hope he continues, for, if I am not mistaken, this has been the best announcing that has been heard from that station since it entered the air.

The Coleridge-Taylor program, W-G-N, 9 to 10, was of no little importance. The radio audience has had too little opportunity to become familiar with the pure melody and marvellously rich colorful scoring of this composer. Mark Love, basso, and of perfect radio voice, was the soloist.

A musical novelty was the Hegard violin ensemble (12 girls and boys from Elmhurst, Ill., in their teens), WEHI, 7 to 7:30. Not bad at all.

CHICAGO LABOR TO DEFY U. S. IN RADIO CASTING

The Chicago Federation of Labor will defy the United States department of commerce and broadcast from its radio station, now under construction at the Municipal pier, if Secretary Hoover denies the organization a license for operation. An announcement to this effect was made by Edward Nockels, the federation secretary, at a meeting yesterday afternoon.

Nockels stated that he had been informed from Washington that the license would be denied on the ground that there are already too many stations in Chicago. The federation's station will be known as WCFL and will be on a wave length of 391 meters.

"We are quite willing to have the matter taken into court," Mr. Nockels explained. "We are confident we will be upheld. The station will be ready in two weeks and we will start broadcasting then."

To Look Younger follow this simple rule in skin care

By NORMA TALMADGE

By preserving youthful skin texture, it is making thousands look younger than their years.

A WELL-KNOWN artist recently asked, "What's become of the middle-aged woman; has she completely disappeared?"

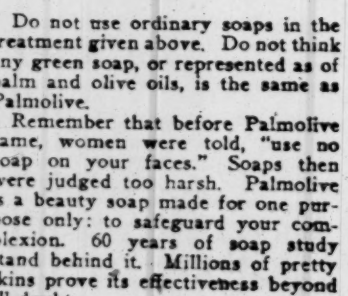

What's really happened is this: women have found that looking their years is a needless folly. Thus nearly everyone stays young these days.

The simple rule below has safeguarded natural complexion charm for more women than any other method known. Thousands employ it. Leading skin specialists urge it. Try it for one week. Let it prove its effects to you... the softening olive and palm lather of Palmolive Soap, used this way:

THE RULE—MAKE IT YOURS STARTING TODAY

Wash your face gently with soothing Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream—that is all.

Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge, if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often enlarge them, blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away. Follow these rules day in and day out. Your skin will be soft and lovely—naturally colorful and clear.

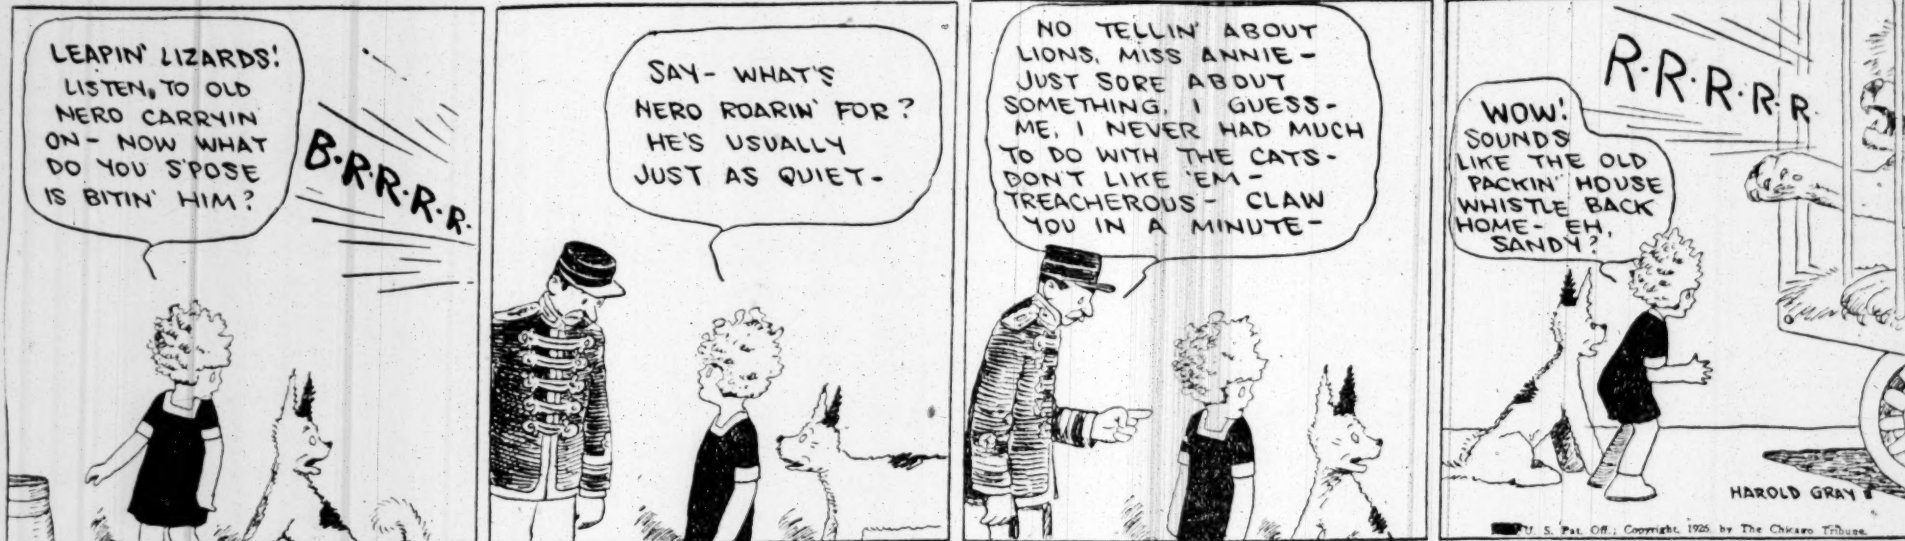

Do not use ordinary soaps in the treatment given above. Do not think of any green soap, or represented as of palm and olive oils, is the same as Palmolive.

Remember that before Palmolive came, women were told, "use no soap on your faces." Soaps then were judged too harsh. Palmolive is a beauty soap made for one purpose only: to safeguard your complexion. 60 years of soap study stand behind it. Millions of happy skins prove its effectiveness beyond all doubt.

BE SURE YOU GET THE REAL PALMOLIVE. It costs but 10c the cake!—so little that millions let it do for their bodies what it does for their faces. Obtain Palmolive today. Note what one week of its use brings you. The Palmolive Company (Del. Corp.), Chicago, Illinois.

April 15, 1926.

Mr. Wm. Donahue,
Manager, Local Advertising,
The Chicago Tribune.

Dear Mr. Donahue:

As you know, Lane Bryant Slenderizing Apparel is especially suited to the needs of every woman of whatever figure, who is larger than the proverbial "36."

Since our advertising began in The Tribune, we have enjoyed a very satisfactory increase in business, especially so in sizes 38 to 46, this in spite of the fact that the majority of women do not know that we specialize in these particular sizes.

We attribute our success, in a large measure, to the effectiveness of The Tribune, which paper has received the major portion of our Chicago advertising appropriation.

We want you to know that about 90 per cent of our Upper Store advertising has been done in The Daily and Sunday Tribune, and we take this opportunity of stating that we attribute our success to the wonderful pulling power of The Chicago Tribune.

Cordially yours,

Mrs. Lane Bryant/T.B.S.

If Tribune advertising can produce sales so successfully for Lane Bryant in their limited field, how much more successfully can it produce sales for any product that has a wide appeal and universal acceptance!

Lane Bryant WHOSE FIELD IS LIMITED TO STOUT WOMEN, CALLS THE TRIBUNE CHICAGO'S most effective medium

LANE BRYANT sell women's wearing apparel. They are specialists in out-fitting stout women, and their major advertising appeal is directed to stout women. Their field of prospects is limited—more limited probably than that of any other Chicago apparel store. Yet in converting prospects into customers, Lane Bryant has proved that The Chicago Tribune produces more sales than any other Chicago newspaper.

In 1921 when Lane Bryant first began to concentrate their advertising in The Tribune, they had 12,000 women customers. Today, after 5 years of Tribune advertising, they have 70,000 women customers.

Every year since 1921 The Tribune has carried far more Lane Bryant advertising than any other Chicago newspaper. The following lineage figures show the disposition of Lane Bryant advertising in Chicago newspapers since 1921:

Newspapers	1921	1922	1923	1924	1925	Total
The Chicago Tribune	63,487	71,481	73,560	83,351	85,164	377,043

PRO-AMATEUR PLAY PLANNED FOR GOLF CLUBS

Series to Be Arranged for South Siders.

BY MORROW KRUM.

A series of pro-amateur days at south side golf clubs is being arranged by Don Hamilton, an amateur of Olympia Fields and Eddie Murphy, the pro at Ridge Country club.

According to the plans of Hamilton and Murphy, all of the south side professionals will visit one golf club each week. At the club they will be paired with home club amateurs and will play an 18 hole round. The form of competition has not yet been decided, but the plan is to have amateur and pro teamed against amateur and pro.

Pros Agree to Plan.

Murphy has made a canvass of south side clubs and has enlisted the aid of R. C. Dearborn of the Ridge club and these professionals: Jack Darry, Olympia Fields; Jim Wilson, Ravin; George Knox, Calumet; Jack Patterson, Midlothian; Ralph Healy, Beverly; Matt Melville, Southmont; and James Mehan of Riverside.

"The day of the week for the contests has not yet been selected. Sunday afternoon would be ideal for the amateurs, while Monday would be the best day for the pros. It is likely some arrangement will be made with each club so the pro will be allowed to attend the contests on one of the last days of each week.

Sees Better Feeling.

"The idea is one that will bring about friendliness between the pros and the amateurs," said Murphy last night. "Not only that, but the amateurs will benefit by their games with the pros and each will get the other's slant on method of play. I believe the plan will be taken up by every club in Chicago."

East and West Track Records Totter in Meets

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Track and field records of all kinds went by the boards Saturday in performances indicating keen competition when the eastern and western intercollegiate meets were held at Cambridge and Iowa City, respectively, May 23 and 24. These record breakers also will clash in the National Collegiate A. A. individual championships on Soldiers' field, June 11 and 12.

Charley Paddock of California, generally recognized as the world's fastest human, stepped 100 yards in 10.5-10 in A. A. U. games in the coliseum at Los Angeles. This mark is one-tenth of a second under the world's record, of which Paddock is a joint holder. The new record ties the unofficial mark made by Roland Locke of Nebraska in the Drake relay games recently. Four timers held watches on Paddock, and three of them caught him at 10.5-10.

Barnes Vaults 13-8. Lee Barnes, the sensational University of Southern California athlete, who will be a member of the Trojan team which will compete in the eastern intercollegiate, cleared the bar at 13 feet 8 inches in games at Palo Alto. This is a new national intercollegiate record and many predict the Trojan will clear 14 feet before his intercollegiate career is ended.

John Kuck of Emporia State Teachers' college of Kansas hurled the javelin 214 feet 2-3 inches in a Kansas conference meet at Pittsburg. This performance bettered the American record of 212 feet 5 inches, made by Johnny Myrra at Los Angeles last year. Kuck is one of the country's

Spring Takes Big Toll in Auto Deaths

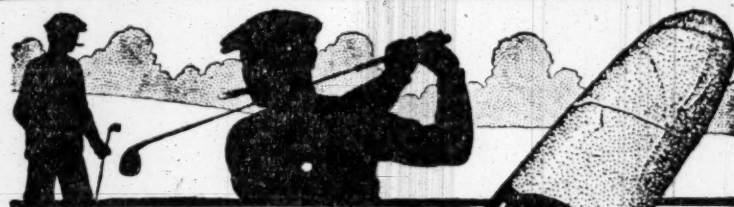

BY J. L. JENKINS.

Spring weather and the motor death toll are advancing hand in hand, according to U. S. vital statistics issued yesterday. The latest automobile death figure compiled by the department of commerce shows 424 fatalities in 79 of the larger cities of the country for a four week spring period as compared to 350 for the preceding month.

Eleven cities showed a clean bill of traffic health during the period, but Chicago chalked up 34 fatalities in April and 32 in March.

Reports to the National Chamber of Commerce indicate that the general adoption of traffic signal systems is helping materially to cut down automobile accidents. The light systems, similar to that which covers the loop traffic in Chicago, have increased the vehicle capacity and reduced the number of accidents for three cities included in the manufacturers' survey.

a new record

Previous to 1926 the biggest month in General Motors history was April 1923, when the public purchased 105,778 General Motors cars.

March 1926 broke this record — 106,051 cars.

Now comes the April total — 136,643 — a new high mark.

Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Oakland, Buick, Cadillac—all showed impressive gains. They occupy distinctive fields; they are produced and marketed by different organizations, but these four General Motors principles apply to all alike: (1) quality first and foremost; (2) the economies of a big organization passed on to the purchaser; (3) low finance charges and fair terms; (4) performance, appearance, comfort and safety, combined to give maximum value in each price class.

Mme. Schumann-Heink's Idea of a Summer Playground

Mme. Schumann-Heink
World-famous Singer who spends much time in Southern California

"I've traveled far," says she, "but my most delightful and healthful summers were spent in Southern California." You can have the same benefits, the same joys in this great summer sportland.

And, further, according to this world-famous singer—

"There is more in Southern California than just flowers and sunshine. A trip to Southern California is an investment—an investment in health for one thing—in added and more enjoyable years of life. And it is also an investment in happiness—the happiness that comes from outdoor living, from inspiring mountains and sea, from a complete change. Summer in Southern California is particularly delightful. Balmy days and cool nights under blankets are the invariable rules. And there is no rain in summer to interfere with outdoor recreation."

As Madame Schumann-Heink indicates, Southern California is a land of perpetual allurements. Whether camping, fishing, bathing, boating or golf attracts you, the delightful setting of mountains and sea forms a background that lends a rare charm to these recreations—one that you have never felt before.

Unstinted sunshine, balmy, breeze-cooled days, restful and refreshing nights, mean renewed vigor, supreme enjoyment, and fresh happiness for you.

This enchanting out-of-doors in Southern California extends an irresistible invitation. All of its attractions are connected by 5,000 miles of magnificent motor roads that make possible the enjoyment of a large variety of diversions within a short stay, should you wish to come for just a week or two. And its interurban trolley system is the largest in the world.

Here are strange old Spanish Missions rich in the glamorous romance of the eighteenth century. Here are alluring sweeps of long white beaches with the ceaseless dash of great breakers calling you to a gay battle. Here are delightful mountain resorts where you can lose all your accumulated weariness in a vast, peaceful quiet.

Or you may be interested in a desert like Sahara or a wild canyon that is a challenging delight to the hiker.

Or, if your whim suggests it, you have here the gayest of gay cosmopolitan life. Here are some of the most luxurious hotels in the world, where brilliant gatherings include many of the most famous personages in political, dramatic and artistic circles, that you have often read about.

It is this variety—this intriguing charm that brings visitors by the scores of thousands to this garden spot and causes many of them eventually to build a home and stay.

Come this summer and feel its charm yourself.

There is no more ideal time than summer. According to the U. S. Weather Bureau the mean temperatures in Los Angeles (the central city) have averaged 69 degrees for the past fifty years, July, August and September.

Don't wait any longer for this wonder trip. Plan now for your summer in Southern California.

Extra low round trip fares on all railroads are in effect now and until October 31st. At little additional cost you can come by way of Los Angeles and San Diego and return via Santa Barbara, San Francisco, Oakland, Portland, Seattle, Tacoma and Spokane, seeing the entire great Pacific Coast in one grand trip.

We have issued probably the most complete book on vacations ever printed. 47 pages, illustrated. Don't plan to spend your summer elsewhere until you read it. Write us and we will send a copy free.

RAIL MAN'S VIEW ON AIRPLANES, MOTOR TRAFFIC

BY HARPER LEECH.

One of the most interesting discussions of rival transportation agencies is that of H. E. Byram, who deals with both motors and airplanes. In proving the railroad's secure and permanent place in transportation, he also appears to demonstrate that the railroads are in a position to operate the other forms of transportation most economically and efficiently.

That the railroads with their traffic experience and speedy rights of way to suitable sites for landing fields, to say nothing of their trained personnel, for the promotion of traffic, are in a position to do more for the promotion of air travel better than anybody else was suggested nearly two years ago. A. O. Wharton pointed out in this column the advantages the railroads possess in trucking their great drafts and in shops and repair work giving them the edge on any outsider. "Slowly, but surely, they are coming in for the motor auxiliaries, but are they moving fast enough? Consider the fact that the motor auxiliaries," says Mr. Byrman and note how these advantages also accrue to their auxiliary motor traffic.

No matter whether we consider the motor or air transports, the proposition is the same. The business not being cared for by the railroads, could not be handled by other agencies, except by establishing assembling and distributing points for loading and unloading the goods in the trucks, trains or air freighters. These carriers could not make any headway in transporting promptly the immense volume of car load and less than car load traffic, if they attempted to stop at the farm or business place of each shipper, to pick up or drop off the individual shipment. A tremendous number of smaller vehicles would be required to bring the shipments to the assembling point or to carry them from the distributing centers and this in turn would involve double or triple the cost of the railroads, and other costs that now enter into rail transportation.

In other words, the railroads have the terminal facilities which anybody else must create. Fitting those properties into auxiliary use for motor traffic would seem a less formidable job than the creation of new terminals by an independent operator.

Of course, allway yards are not and cannot be landing fields for airplanes. But nobody expects air freighting to supersede either railroads or trucks, except for very minute shipments of express goods. The railroad industry does not see anybody else airplane travel to supersede rail service, except on long jumps by persons in a hurry. The railroad's problem of keeping airplane passenger competition confined to long hauls is a problem of speed and comfort on the short runs.

Mr. Byram shows that 1,000 airplanes, costing $20,000,000, manned by 1,000 pilots, would be required to haul as much freight as is handled by a light 25 box car, one locomotive and a crew of five men.

Gem of all Studebakers—

and by all odds the finest roadster to be had within $1000 of its price

WHAT finer gift than this dashing new Studebaker Roadster? To be the owner of this car of surpassing beauty and performance means a world of new freedom and pleasure.

Three sit comfortably in the wide front seat — two in the rumble seat beneath the rear deck.

It's built low to the road for smartness and roadability—and powered with the famous Big Six engine offered for the first time in a roadster of racy design and stream-line smartness. That means flashing get-away—ability to maintain high speeds for hours over all roads—in fact, performance that brings a new thrill—even to the keenest roadster enthusiast. Only seven American cars equal the Big Six Sport-Roadster in rated horsepower, and they cost two to five times its price. Hence we urge you to compare its thrilling performance with that of the most expensive cars.

Miles mean little to this sturdily built roadster. Unit-Built by Studebaker to the highest standards in the industry—it will maintain its able performance for years.

No "extras" to buy

The Big Six Roadster comes to you completely equipped—ready for the road as it stands.

Studebaker also builds a smart Sport-Roadster on the famous Standard Six chassis at $1295, f. o. b. factory. Either of these cars or any of the following may be purchased out of income at time-payment rates as low as any known to the motor world.

Standard Six—Duplex-Roadster, $1125; Duplex-Phaeton, $1145; Coach, $1195; Sport-Roadster, $1295; Country Club Coupe, $1295; Sedan (wool trim), $1295; Sedan (mohair trim), $1395.

Special Six—Duplex-Roadster, $1395; Duplex-Phaeton, $1445; Coach, $1445; Brougham, $1795; Victoria, $1750; Sedan, $1895.

Big Six—Duplex-Roadster, $1495; Sport-Roadster (4-Pass.), $1645; Sport-Phaeton, $1575; Duplex-Phaeton, $1775; Club Coupe, $1650; Coupe, $2045; Sedan (5-Pass.), $1895; Sedan (7-Pass.), $2145; Brougham, $2095; Berline, $2225.

All prices f. o. b. factory

Chassis and engine are especially designed for the Studebaker-built body. Full-size balloon tires, long, resilient springs and snubbers assure unsurpassed riding ease.

Body is finished in two tones of green gray, in pleasing contrast to the natural wood wheels and the nickel plating of the radiator, windshield frame and rear-deck rails. Genuine leather upholstery with the seat back adjustable to the exact angle that suits the rider best.

The spark is automatically advanced and retarded by the speed of the engine. The spark lever is thus made obsolete and is replaced by the safety lighting control on the steering wheel. Equipment includes windshield wings, boot for the collapsible top, front bumper and rear bumperettes, gasoline gauge, stop light, automatic windshield cleaner, air cleaner, oil and gas filters, motometer, coincidental lock to ignition and steering controlled by the same key locking the tool compartment in the left door and the spare-tire carrier at the rear. Spare tire, tube and cover are standard equipment.

The Law of the Talon

By Louis Tracy.

SYNOPSIS.

Jim Parks, Hudson Bay company's agent at Moose Lake, is greatly disturbed by a new man in an English paper, assuming the coming marriage of Alastair Spenser Pantan to Glen Grant and referring to the prospective groom as the heir presumptive to Lord Oban. The new man's only son, John Bridgforth Pantan, had disappeared some years before, and his death is about to be presumed by law. Parks decides to leave Moose Lake and go back to England.

Arrived at Edmonton, Parks tells Mr. Leslie, the temporary head of the Hudson Bay company, that he is John Bridgforth Pantan. Leslie's daughter, is a sympathetic listener to the tale and she encourages her father to help young Pantan.

In the meantime Eileen Grant is married in London to Alastair Pantan. Immediately after the ceremony she learns that John Pantan is alive and is on his way to England to claim an inheritance left him by his aunt.

INSTALLMENT VII. EILEEN'S ULTIMATUM.

Colonel Grant lost his temper. He swore loudly. "How does this infernal business concern us?" he stormed. "If John Pantan has been sinking in some obscure den for the best part of seven years, why should we bother our heads now because he chooses to come out into the open? He is after his aunt's money, of course. And how can we be sure the whole affair is not a hoax, an imposture?"

"You are so sure it is nothing of the kind that you dared not say one word about it to me because you knew I would never have married Alastair while Jack lived," said Eileen. "That Alastair should act like a sneak and a liar does not surprise me at all. Jack always said he was utterly untrustworthy and unscrupulous. But it hurts—oh, yes, it hurts cruelly—that my own father should be equally base, for it is shameful that I should have been trapped into today's marriage. I wonder if that clerkman knew what was going on when he spoke of the sacrament of matrimony. Can that be sacramental which is founded on deceit? O, no, no—a thousand times 'No.' If one thought that, what would there be left of all that is good and noble in life?"

By this time the colonel was a thoroughly frightened man, though his fear arose from outraged convention rather than any sense of wrongdoing. "I say, Eileen," he bleated, "calm yourself and stop all this nonsense. If you don't, what is to become of us—with a crowd of people waiting downstairs to see you off?"

But his daughter was by far the calmer of the two. Her color had returned while she uttered that impassioned protest, and she seemed to realize suddenly that the situation called for action, not words. "Of course," she said with a detachment that was phenomenal in the circumstances. "I cast off Alastair Pantan now and forever as a husband. I refuse to acknowledge myself as his wife. Ah, me! I know before the vow was uttered that I could never love nor honor him, though I would have tried to obey him. I would, indeed, for your sake, for the sake of the family which I thought both you and I held dear. Well, that is done with," and she drew her wedding ring off her finger and flung it in the fireplace. "I am not Mrs. Pantan—not yet. I revert to the state of single blessedness—wherever first called that phrase was, indeed, a philosopher. All I ask to decide is this: Am I to walk out of this hotel under a ban, as my darling Jack left Liverpool seven years ago, or do you permit me to go home and bury myself in the Highlands until my own true man comes to claim me?"

Drowning men, they say, clutch at straws. The colonel caught at one now. "Something must be done," he cried in a voice tremulous with anger and despair. "Obey me, Eileen, and I must obey. But you shall listen to him. Yes, by gad, you shall! Where is Maggie? She must be somewhere near. Where is she? Open that door, or I'll smash the panels with a chair. Or give me the key, unless you want to make me take it by force."

Eileen smiled wanly. Her father was whipping himself into a fury, or he would neither have used bad language nor threatened her with physical violence. "If you wish to create a scene I certainly shall not stop you," she said. "But please do try and understand that I am more than ready to meet Lord Oban and his nephews. Perhaps, if we four get together I may at least hear something of the truth."

She herself unlocked the door, summoned the maid, and gave the message that brought the other men in foot to the room. Meanwhile, she stood staring out of the window. In the street beneath a small crowd had collected. A splendid car, Lord Oban's wedding present, waited near the porch. Press photographers were taking up strategic positions for a final snapshot of the wedding pair. Eileen was not only noteworthy as the prettiest bride of the season, but the hint of romance about the succession to the peerage had its widespread appeal, while public interest was greatly stimulated by the news from Edmonton published that morning.

She believed her father spoke more than once, but his reproaches and protestations were meaningless in her ears. She was neither callous nor rude; for the time being she was stunned. She had not long to wait. Alastair entered first. He was a good looking man of thirty-five, one who wore his clothes with distinction. The morning coat, striped cloth trousers, gleaming boots and exquisite boutonniere of a bridegroom had suited his portly figure better than the lounge suit of travel now de rigueur, but his appearance was still that of one born in the purple and accustomed all his life to be among the elect. His hair was thinning over a dome foreboding, and his eyes were slightly too close together, while his mouth and head hinted at strength of character which might be tainted with some disturbing elements of cruelty and sensuality. But that impression, if it were conveyed ever so slightly at first sight, was dispelled the moment he smiled. He had a most agreeable voice, and his manners were those of good society. Were one told that he had been on a headquarters staff during the war and was now a member of parliament and vice chairman of a county council, the description would not be questioned.

GASOLINE ALLEY—PLATO LENDS HIS ASSISTANCE

If You Liked "Abie's Irish Rose," Better See "Cohens and Kellys"

"THE COHENS AND THE KELLYS"

Produced by Universal with E. M. Awer. Directed by Harry Pollard. Presented at the Chicago Theater.

THE CAST: George Sidney as Nathan Cohen, Vera Gordon as Mrs. Cohen, Charles Murray as Patrick Kelly, Kate Price as Mrs. Kelly, Jason Robards as Tim Kelly, Bobby Bennett as Nannie Cohen, Mickey Bennett as Milton J. Katz.

Good Morning! WALK! "The Cohens and Kellys" COULD be reviewed in one brief word, and that would be it. Or, going more into detail, one might say, "It starts scurrily and ends happily"—which would give you a still better idea of the picture. But we've no call to be so stingy with our time or space, so, be informed that: The Cohens and the Kellys are discovered living on the same floor of the same tenement building on Second avenue, New York, in opposite flats and they hate each other with a lively and thorough hatred in which even their dogs participate.

Mr. Cohen is in the clothing business—modestly. Mr. Kelly is a cop. Mr. Cohen foxily draws crowds to his shop which Mr. Kelly—the law behind him—dispenses before ever they can spend a cent. The small Kelly boy and the Cohen lad, of practically the same age and battling ability, draw into the constantly warring warfare between themselves and their dogs the indignant manmaws who enter Cohen's and Kelly's. And—the Cohen's Nannie and the Kelly's Tim—love each other! "Ain't that something?" as Sam says to Henry.

The romance complicates affairs to an acute degree. Just as the Cohens believe their bust is doomed to fail—along comes a lawyer with news of a $2,000,000 inheritance. Oy, oy!

Richness for the Cohens. Madness for the Kellys! And something else yet for Nannie and Tim!

Further complications arise, of which the picture shall tell you. If you liked "Abie's Irish Rose" you're due to like "The Cohens and Kellys." It's a hearty corned beef-casserole.

"MONEY TALKS"

Produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Directed by Archie Mayo. Presented at McVickers' theater.

THE CAST: Phoebe Starling as Claire Windsor, Oscar Waters as Owen Moore, Loretta Young as Vera Gordon, J. Bradford Perkins as Phillips Smalley, J. Chatterton as Dot Farley, Ah So as Kathleen Key.

George Sidney as Cohen, Charles Murray as Kelly, Vera Gordon as Mrs. Cohen and Kate Price as Mrs. Kelly give broad and generous impersonations and the other players throw themselves wholeheartedly into their work. The director directed with great good will.

It would say that "The Cohens and Kellys" is far from restful but is—zestful.

Lot of Good Actors Waste Lot of Good Time

This is an also ran of a just-movie. The hero is a wise-cracking smart aleck of an advertising agent who with his pretty wife—whom he calls "Baby"—lives magnificently on cheerful credit until the creditors see the light and de-furnish, de-milk and de-grocerize him.

His wife, tired at last of his foolishness, goes home to mother—which is the last he's needed to drive him to success. To win her back he has to win IT!

The winning is accomplished through ridiculous medium that furnish the sum substance of the film.

Personally I can't say a thing for the picture except that a lot of good actors wasted a lot of time on it. Claire Windsor, Owen Moore, Phillips Smalley, Ned Sparks—you know.

They're absolutely no business in clap-trap like "Money Talks." See you tomorrow!

CLOSEUPS

The latest fad of the ladies of Hollywood is having their necklaces sewn to their gowns. Blanche Sweet started the fashion by thus attaching to her costume a string of pearls she didn't want to have stolen.

Two of the late Gene Stratton Porter's novels are to be pictured by Film Booking Offices. They are "Ladies," in which John Bowers will play the title role, and "The Magic Garden."

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune, For today's question Theodore Van de Wyer, 744 South Lombard avenue, Oak Park, was awarded $5.

THE QUESTION: Should every able bodied young man join a citizens' military training camp?

Where Asked: Dearborn street at Madison.

THE ANSWERS: Frank J. Barjantini, 7234 South Hermitage avenue, sales- man—There could be nothing better for them, but how to get them to do so is quite another thing. It would build them up physically and at the same time they would learn to take an interest in their physical welfare which they would appreciate later.

Mrs. Alice Delfosse, 853 Sheridan road, Wilmette, Ill., housewife—I would teach them to keep out of a lot of mischief, for one thing. And discipline—that's all important for man, woman, and child. I have learned to make myself do things. Americans, as a rule, dislike discipline.

Alexander P. C. Schmoor, 2014 North Clark street, manager—By all means, if able to do so. It would help them in all their future life and business relations and develop character, the most important factor in life today, and it is going to be more important in the future.

Mrs. L. A. Richardson, 4216 Greenwood avenue, housewife—I think they should. It is a good preparatory training for the battle of life. It should be, and I believe it is, valuable as a practical training in discipline and in the responsibilities of true citizenship.

C. M. Miller, 192 North Clark street, real estate broker—It is the best possible schooling they could get in a like time. Their contact with an army of men is broadening to the mind at a period when they need it most. If they are any good they would learn much that would benefit them all their lives.

Ruth Tracy Reveals Self One of Season's Impressive Pianists

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Ruth Alexander Tracy, almost the last of the season's list of artists who appeared at the Princess yesterday afternoon, was one of the most persuasive, and for several reasons. For one, she was the first to harmonize pictorially and pianistically with the curtain purposes. For another, she is a good bit of a personality at the keyboard.

Other musical events permitted her to hear only the second half of her program, but that section became steadily and progressively a better performance. The Debussy group had interest and illusion, excellent but not uncommon in these days. But Mrs. Tracy went on to a Gavotte by Saint-Saëns that had dance feeling to it, two "Divisions," by John Alden Carpenter, where she showed a real flair for some uncommonly entertaining music, and finally Liszt's "Four Liszt-pieces," which was a climax of brilliant, sure handed playing.

The Cooperative Symphony orchestra gave its second concert at Orchestra hall under the direction of Edmund Zyzman. This is the organization that was put together some months ago for the exploitation of Polish symphonic music. It would seem to be ready for almost anything—Mr. Zyzman would seem to have decisive merits as trainer and conductor. The principal thing that it needs now is some composers. The three that were heard yesterday, Z. Noskowski, Sigismund Stojowski, and Mieczyslaw Karłowicz, are highly respectable. They make no errors, they are guilty of no bad taste, they are eager at the laborious task of putting notes upon paper. But they seldom say anything that previous composers have not said, and a little better, and they are unendingly long winded. Alexander Brachowski, pianist, was the soloist, time pressed and other visits became necessary.

The Illinois Club for Catholic Women Choral society, a recently formed organization, gave its first concert at the Studebaker. They were colorful of costume and tuneful of throat, for which latter Le Roy Wetzel assumed the responsibility. Under his baton they were accurate on the beat, good in matters of tone, and more than good in the projection of the English language, three desirable points in a chorus. The soloists were Laura Butts, contralto, Laurine Olsen, soprano, and Margaret Conrad, violinist.

Grace Episcopal Names New Rector

The Rev. Robert Holmes has been elected rector of Grace Episcopal church in succession to the late Rev. W. O. Waters, according to an announcement yesterday by David E. Evans, senior warden of the church.

Grace church for years has been one of the most fashionable and large attended churches in Chicago. It was located at 1414 North Dearborn street and Washington avenue. The church auditorium was burned and the property sold. Since then the church has worshipped in St. Luke's hospital. The Rev. Mr. Holmes will fill both positions as rector of the church and chaplain of the hospital.

Since 1921 the new rector has been curate of St. Mark's church, Evanston, of which Dr. Arthur Rogers is rector. Members of the vestry elect the Rev. Mr. Holmes are: David Evans, Gardiner Lathrop, Dr. Edward P. Norcross, Edward L. Ryerson, Charles H. Schweppe, Frank Hibbard, Louis Martin, and L. R. Curtis.

THEATER

"WEAK SISTERS"

Comic piece, in three acts, by Lynn Starling, made known in Chicago (by the Messrs. Ascher) May 15, 1926, in the Adelphi Theater, with this cast: Grandma Corey... Elizabeth Risdon, Ma Corey... Henrietta Tedro, Faith Corey... Helen Lewis, Uncle Rosen... Benedict MacQuarrie, Arthur Mithank... Allan Moore, Siegfried Strong... Dwight Meade, His mother... Lorena Tison, Larry... Carol Bond, Camilla Ginsberg... Ethel Intropoli (and Lavina Faxon, Katherine Krug, Ann Andrews, June Kirwin, Louise Segal, and Ruth DeWitt.)

Here, in the scene on which the author leans for popular appeal, is the spirit of "Rain," jazzed up for laughter, with the Reverend Davidson in panting and unsuccessful conflict with a septet of Sadie Thompsons. This isn't to say that Mr. Starling was conscious of his inspiration, but the success of the deft and tight little drama made from Somerset Maugham's tale of a harlot and a missionary in the South Pacific has turned the thought of many a writer to possible variants of that good fight, and this is a variant. Or Mr. Starling may have taken his idea directly from "Moral," a German comedy by Ludwig Thomas that was live and topical when first called to my attention, back in 1919, and was stale and "dated" when put on last autumn in New York by the Actors' Theater with a gesture of audacity and daring.

Don't take from the foregoing sentences the notion that "Weak Sisters" is something in the image of a social document. It might have been made into one by a writer who knew how, and been, in the making, at least as funny as it is; and it is funny to the extent that the average farce is funny, meaning that it is as funny as its funniest detachable episode. The test episode here is a reception to the inmates of a "house" ridden at the instigation, a counter-reformer who likes to be known as the Hound of Heaven; the girls are taken for tea and sandwiches to the home of his most devoted sister-worker, there to be subjected by the Hound before they are shipped off to New York, the local judge having been content to punish them with a fine only. Banned with the inmates is an ex-coachman who, stupefied and happily married, had been merely calling when the police arrived; but, as she was reading "The Green Hat" at the time, she explains, she was treated as if no one were there, and, she adds, "I'm hard-boiled but wholesome."

And 'tis she who administers the coup-de-grace to the Hound; she has vivid memory of a certain night when there were tasks, champagne, and the like, but "nothing ultimate," as she cheerfully boasts after the Hound has fled from her withering disclosures. The ingenu he would take to wife and to Africa is released to the contrary; and the Hound turns for solace and companionship to her mother, who still believes in him.

The play is bawdy, brash, and unashamed, but the trouble with it, as a play, is that it is loose untidy; and inept, with such dependence on the scene between the reformer and the strumpet that everything else is made to seem much makeshift. The wise grandmother of "The Beautiful Adventure," "The Gypsy Trail," and of "Miss Lulu Bett" has been put into the piece as a comic chorus; and to her falls a line, as the curtain is about to drop on the second act, that evokes as vast a laugh as has been heard in a Chicago theater in years.

The Messrs. Ascher expect a success for "Weak Sisters" that will end their policy of a fortnightly change; and it may be that they will not be disappointed. Their chances would be the better if they had a more elastic actor for the reformer, and, then, if they called in a director to give to the performance the right pace and tempo will, doubtless, work into an ensemble with repetition.

News-Notes. "The Green Beetle" new here, was put on last night in the Central. "Divorçons!" will be revived tonight in the Blackstone.

A piece named "The Clutching Claw," by Ralph Kettering, is underlined for acting in the Adelphi after "Weak Sisters."

Dedication of New St. James Church Begun

Plan Week's Program for $600,000 Edifice.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON. The St. James Methodist Episcopal church, 46th street and Ellis avenue, began yesterday morning a week of dedicatory services of its new $600,000 stone edifice with an address by James M. Yard of Calma, a representative of the West China Union university, Chengtu. The church, a merger of the original St. James and Oakland churches, will be formally dedicated next Sunday by Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of Chicago, with Bishop Thomas Nicholson, Detroit, as the morning preacher.

Various functions will be held this week, culminating Friday evening with a banquet in honor of Albert W. Harris, banker, chairman of the finance committee, and A. H. Andrews, M. D., chairman of the building committee. St. James is the leading church of the denomination inside the city limits. Dr. W. B. Wedderburn is the pastor. The $600,000 All Souls' and Jackson Community church, 66th place and Blackstone avenue, which prefers to call itself a liberal rather than a Unitarian church, although affiliated with the Unitarian fellowship, was dedicated yesterday without any appeal for money.

"We have already raised $90,000," said Prof. Fred Merrill of the University of Chicago, pastor of the church, "and the remaining $510,000 is taken care of by a loan to be gradually paid off."

Dr. George R. Dabson of St. Louis preached the dedicatory sermon. "The History and Spirit of All Souls' Church" was the topic of John C. Riley, and Charles W. Lamborn made the formal presentation of the church.

The twenty-fourth session of the Western Unitarian conference will open at 10 a. m. today in the Hotel Sherman. The general theme will be "Next Steps in Religion," including a forecast of the immediate future.

Other dedications yesterday were the new school and community building of St. Joseph's Catholic church, Downers Grove; the new First Congregational church, 24th street and Gunderson avenue, Berwyn; and the West Pullman Methodist Episcopal church.

JINGLET'S

Canary Colored Lace Is Smart for Evening

by Corinne Lewis

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondent.]—One hopes that gentlemen prefer bi-colored laces, for they are doomed to see quite a bit of them throughout the season. O. to be sure, the real bi-colored laces are in. There is any quantity of these black laces and they have undoubtedly received a special impetus from the attempted Spanish vogue.

Above we show an evening dress of canary colored lace which joins the bolero idea with that of the ever popular skirt. These various broken lines would be monotonous without some kind of drapery and here it is supplied by a jabot ruffling from the left shoulder all the way down to the hem of the frock.

There is at present a pronounced tendency toward the ensemble in evening toilettes and the wrap of this ensemble is usually a cape. (Chiffon is undoubtedly the favorite medium for these adorable summer wraps and in case one's frock is also of this same fabric the problem of harmony is easy. When, however, the gown is of lace the relation between the two garments is established merely by color. Thus, we should have as the proper accompaniment of this lace model a cape of canary colored chiffon with touches of the gown's lace.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Tribune will pay $1 for every letter published on "The Most Embarrassing Moment of My Life." Address: Embarrassing Moments, Chicago Tribune. Write on the side of the paper. No manuscript returned.

Found Out.

My employer invited me to attend the firm's banquet to be given on an evening for which I had made an engagement I much preferred to keep. However, I could not refuse, so thought I would keep both engagements by leaving the banquet early.

When entering the banquet room I therefore placed my hat and fur coat on a chair near the door, and when I found I was seated at the table near it I felt safe.

When every one was applauding one of the speakers I saw my chance to escape, but my wraps were gone. I inquired of the attendant, who told me he knew where they were, and, to my consternation, entered the banquet room, going straight to my best chair and, after a conference, returned with the wraps, which my boss had recognized and removed to a safer place. Well, the evening was spoiled for me, as the boss had not made his speech yet.

Scholarship Fund Benefit.

The scholarship fund of the Vocational Supervision League will receive the proceeds from a concert to be presented this evening at Orchestra Hall. Mrs. Howard Spaulding Jr., John V. Farwell, Samuel Insull, Otto L. Schmidt, Mrs. Fayson Wild, and Harold H. Swift are among those who have taken boxes.

Mrs. Arthur Ryerson Now Plies Avocation as Hostess in Majorca

BY NANCY R.

As some one remarked the other day, women may be divided into two groups: hostesses and guests. Some women, whether at home or abroad, are always the hostesses of the world, looking out for the comfort and entertainment of those about them; the others are the guests, whose business it is to be cared for and entertained. Mrs. Arthur Ryerson is without any doubt one of the hostesses. When she is in Chicago her parties are the talk of the town. And when she comes to her door, And when she is away holidaying it's the same. Just now she has a picturesque house in Majorca, which she keeps filled with visitors from various parts of the world. This week Hugh Walpole is the guest here—perhaps he's finding material and inspiration on that historic, quaint old island for another novel.

Mrs. Ryerson's son, John Boris Ryerson, added to his laurels as a golfer this year when he won the southwestern golf championship. I understand he was all set to sail for England last week for the golf matches there, when the strike caused so much plan changing. Young Ryerson's expectation was to motor from here to Ringwood, the Ryerson estate in New York, and then to sail for the other side. He carried out the first part of the arrangement and then called his mother that he had canceled his reservations. He is undecided now whether to go abroad at all this spring.

Mrs. Ryerson's sister, Miss Sophie

Borje, was in Chicago over the just past week-end. She spent Friday night out in Glenview visiting Mrs. Andrew MacLeish and the rest of the time with Miss Carolyn Hazard.

Day's News in Society

The marriage of Miss Theresa Higgins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Higgins of Lenox, Mass., formerly of Chicago, to Count Giugliano Ruellati of Florence, Italy, is to take place on June 19 at The Ledges in Lenox, where the Higginses pass the greater portion of the year. The ceremony will be followed by a large reception, and promises to be the gayest of the smart summer affairs of the north shore. The count will arrive in America this week, accompanied by his parents, Count and Countess Cosimo Ruellati, who will be guests of the Higginses until after the wedding.

The engagement and wedding plans of Miss Higgins, announced several months ago, are of interest in Chicago, where she and her younger sister, Lee, made their debuts, and were known as two of the most picturesque figures in society.

The wedding will combine dignity in keeping with the Higgins traditions, coupled with the artistry of the bride, and no doubt will set a precedent for Boston brides.

The American Opera society will give a luncheon at the Fortnightly today for Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, who has given so much encouragement to the organization. The Chicago Woman's Symphony orchestra is to play selections of American operas by American composers. Mrs. Archibald Freer, national chairman and founder of the society, is in charge of the reservations. Mrs. Americus P. Callahan, social chairman, and her committee are making the luncheon arrangements.

Mrs. James W. Morrison is to give a tea at her residence, 1531 State parkway, at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon, for Mrs. Scott Linn and Miss Brantley, new publicity chairman of the Illinois League of Women Voters.

The Sunbeam League will meet on Wednesday at 12 o'clock at the Hotel La Salle.

Mrs. Joseph David McNulty of 555 Hawthorne place has issued cards to meet Miss Carol Ann on Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock, and to view some portraits by Miss Ann.

Mrs. John R. Winterbottom Jr. of 1236 Dearborn parkway was about the only one of the Junior League delegates to their annual convention at Chicago, who came back to Chicago on Saturday after the sessions closed. The others made a bee line for the Kentucky Derby. Louise Tyler, Clara Hollis, and Dorothy Schmidt were other Chicago delegates, and Mrs. Frederick P. Jones, Miss Marion Dawes, and Miss Virginia Benton represented the Evanston branch.

Miss Sophie Borje, sister of Mrs. Arthur Ryerson of 2700 Lake View avenue, has been visiting in Chicago over the week-end. She spent Friday evening with Mrs. Andrew MacLeish at Glenview and has been the guest of Miss Carolyn Hazard since then.

Slender Foot Is More Modish Than Short, Stubby One

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

What's the sense of getting shoes two sizes too small if the disposition is going to be twice as grouchy? That's what happens when the shoe pinches. A cranky disposition and a face that hurts, too. Any face hurts that can't smile easily. If you want a sure means of removing an amiable countenance from beneath your hat, wear a tight shoe.

A curious thing about the tight shoe purchases is that it isn't always the woman with big feet who buys them. Not by hundreds of pairs. There is the woman with small feet who is complimented on her cute little Cinderellas until she becomes extremely vain about them. And when a lady becomes excessively vain about any one of her many charming attributes she is quite apt to concentrate on that particular feature and try to make it worthy of more applause, sometimes with disastrous results.

Why a woman with small feet wants to make herself uncomfortable with a shoe last that is too short and narrow only one who understands the nourishment of flattery, I suppose, is able to explain.

The average woman's foot, judging from shoe sale statistics, calls for a 6B and 6 1/2 A size. There are more of these sizes sold than of any other. A few years ago four and five were the popular sizes. But women are getting away from the idea of discomfort while walking and dancing and they're ordering shoes that fit the feet.

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Loving Cookery.

It would be pleasant, though perhaps not profitable, to give a long list of names here of those of my readers who have, in one way or another, shown me they love the art of cookery. These names would be mentioned with the invitation that they read "Syrup (In Praise of Cooks)" which is in the May number of the Atlantic Monthly. I want especially to call the attention of Mrs. D. to this.

I hope also that Jeanne, too, will read that article. Her little daughter of 3, when they called upon me and I asked her if she liked a kitchen, raised her little chest that she might say it more expansively and emphatically answered, "I love a kitchen." The author of the article in question, Frances Lester Warner, loves a kitchen and all its works and can write delightfully of it and them. She says: "Whether experimenting with a lordly foreign dish, or mixing up the simple standby of every day, the born cook finds an abiding satisfaction in the perfect climax, that eager moment when the magic ingredients, blended with heat, time, attention, intuition, and a light hand, have emerged at length, a finished, delicious thing to eat. Especially is it a satisfaction when every item of a menu group comes to that point on schedule, texture, delicate, color right, flavor to satisfy Oscar the chef, all precisely timed."

That moment is thrilling, according to this author, and I would that I might preach long on this business of menu making which is taken so casually, carelessly, and in every way superficially by many people, who plan menus much as the turning of a kaleidoscope does its work, as compared with the work of the artist in glass window making.

There is a girl whose ebony hair drew forth the most enviable compliments, for instance. It was that rare blue-black which, set above a blue-gray eye and a pale ivory complexion, makes a picture no artist can do full justice to. To make perfection more perfect, she drew the girl to a hair-dressing parlor, from which her head emerged a patent leather black. It robbed her eyes of their soft color and her complexion of the ivory tinge, and her hair of its great individual beauty.

Why a woman with small feet wants to make herself uncomfortable with a shoe last that is too short and narrow only one who understands the nourishment of flattery, I suppose, is able to explain.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

WARREN'S EATING.

Wrong kind of food is often to blame for pimples and blackheads. Eat less starchy foods, white breads, greasy meats and pastries, substituting fruits, vegetables and bran breads. A certain amount of roughage is necessary to a healthy diet, so eat plentifully of celery, especially the outer stalks, lettuce, cabbage, spinach, carrots, onions, prunes and apples. For local treatment, send stamped addressed envelope for my booklet, "Care of the Complexion."

Have Faith in Them, R. F. That's Half the Battle, You Know

BY DORIS BLAKE

"I am a school teacher and am willing to wait until I meet a man with brains, sense and ideas before I marry. I want a man who has a clean state to offer, not one who expects more than he can give. That is the trouble with our young men of today. They live the kind of life they wish, but expect a clean record from the girl."

"I know I am considered slow by most men, but I do know that no matter how low they are, I have their respect. On the other hand, few of them ask to come back because I don't get drunk or smoke. No girl living like a good time better than I. I love to dance. Not one more fond of pretty clothes and I like to feel that I attract attention. But I prefer a neat, refined appearance to cheap, gaudy, novel dress. I have a quivering conscience if I think a man is spending more on me than he can afford, and my best to prevent it."

"Sometimes when I am sitting at home longing for something to do and see the other kind of girl starting out for a good time, I wonder if it pays to be decent, for I have found few men who really want a girl that is good. Then, when I think it over, I do not lose hope for although I am 26 I still believe I'll meet my prince."

"I do wish girls who are not popular would get the idea out of their heads that you can't be popular and decent. It is not true, and it is not fair. I can't tell you to your brothers, to your cousin, or to your nice boy cousins. For every decent girl in the world there is a decent boy. For every girl with ideals about home, children and duty to society there is a man who is a good friend, a good respect himself and women, too. If it weren't so, if all the goodness and decency were possessed by one sex the whole social fabric would crumble."

"If a girl wants to be unpopular, let her go about voicing her theory that men are all out trying to make records as rascals and roustabouts. They're not. We women mustn't in our stupor overlook the fact that all men who are decent if there were no careless women to lure them down the crooked road. No, R. F., if you would be popular, believe in me. The majority of them are quite worthy of it."

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Blue Eyes Wonder.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am 17. I have gone with a young man, 21, several times. I have good friends. I can be another. The first man hasn't called me up and has appeared cold. What should I do?"

"BLUE EYES."

"He's not too old, dear, and it seems you should be good friends. I can be another. The first man hasn't called me up and has appeared cold. What should I do?"

"30 and 18."

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a man of 30. I am 18. Do you think my age matters? I think he is too old. Do you think I know my own mind yet?"

"When you're in doubt about it, know yourself. It's a sure sign you don't know your own mind, dear. He's too old. You'd get more enjoyment out of associating with boys your own age."
